Chairman's Letter

27 February 2007

Dear Summit Shareholder

The board of Paladin Resources Ltd (Paladin) is delighted to provide you with the opportunity to participate in the merger of Summit's assets with Paladin's own strong portfolio, and to welcome you as shareholders in our organisation.

The proposed offer by Paladin, for all the shares in Summit, is very attractive both in terms of the premium offered and the opportunities available to the combined group within the global uranium market. Based on the 5 day volume weighted average price (VWAP) for Paladin Shares and the 10 day VWAP for Summit Shares on the ASX prior to announcement, the offer provides you with a 34% premium to the value of Your Summit Shares. Moreover, you may elect to retain your Paladin Shares or sell them into a highly liquid trading market.

Should you choose to retain your Paladin Shares, you will participate in the operation of the first modern, large scale uranium mine in a decade, at Langer Heinrich in Namibia, which produced Paladin's first yellowcake in December 2006. Given that Paladin enjoys excellent exposure to current strong uranium pricing (and has no legacy pre-2006 sales contracts), you will benefit from ongoing participation in the global uranium market, which is expected to be highly attractive for suppliers in the foreseeable future due to the imbalance between supply and demand.

Upon accepting this offer, you will have the opportunity to participate both through increases in the value of your in-the-ground assets as well as through annual earnings growth. With the recently committed Kayelekera project and plans to expand Langer Heinrich by late 2008 or early 2009, Paladin is targeting production of 7Mlbs U₃O₈ per annum in the near term.

As a Paladin shareholder, you will have reduced your exposure to State Government uranium mining policy, while retaining material upside if/when that policy shifts. Paladin, a pure uranium play, has interests in a significant portfolio of quality Australian uranium exploration assets including in Queensland, Western Australia and the Northern Territory. Paladin compliments these with ownership of two key assets in Southern Africa, Langer Heinrich and Kayelekera, one of which is in production and the second of which is within just two years of production following the Paladin board's recent approval to commence development.

You will benefit from a proven board and management team with the appropriate mix of uranium specific skills and experience – from geology, processing, construction and marketing through to project finance. Given the lack of activity in uranium mining and processing over the last thirty years, a team with the depth and breadth of uranium-specific experience such as that compiled by Paladin is very hard to replicate, particularly within single project companies.

If Paladin is successful in gaining control of Summit, it intends to make the most of Summit's uranium assets, the larger of which it already owns 50% through its participation in the Isa Uranium Joint Venture (Mt Isa JV). Paladin's view is that a production target in or after 2012 is a realistic expectation for the Mt Isa JV. This view is based on Paladin's development experience and understanding of the likely development process in Queensland, should uranium mining be allowed.

Paladin's broad growth strategy is focussed on acquiring additional development opportunities beyond 2009 and establishing a uranium marketing subsidiary. The Paladin board has a clear vision to see Paladin become a major world supplier of uranium, as an international multi-mine producer and marketer that, amongst other things, will establish its own uranium inventory to afford the Paladin Group flexibility and stability of ongoing supply, in a dynamic uranium market.

We consider that Australia has an important role to play in world uranium supply and as such we are prepared to take a patient yet committed approach in progressing Summit's uranium assets.

On behalf of the Paladin board, I encourage you to carefully read the details of our offer and I look forward to shortly welcoming you as a shareholder of Paladin.

Yours sincerely

Mr Rick Crabb
Chairman

The Offer presents a significant premium to Summit's recent trading value

Summit shareholders are offered a significant premium to recent trading levels, as well as the opportunity to become a shareholder of Paladin, a highly regarded and well positioned resources group in the ASX S&P 100 Index.

The consideration comprises 1 Paladin Share for every 2.04 Summit Shares. Based on the 5 day volume weighted average price (VWAP) of Paladin Shares on the ASX prior to the announcement of the Offer on 27 February 2007, the value of the scrip consideration under the Offer (Implied Offer Price) is $5.12 per Summit Share.

Figures 1 and 2 below illustrate the attractive premiums the Implied Offer Price represents to recent trading prices of Summit Shares.

Why you should accept the Offer

The opportunity to become a shareholder of Paladin, a highly regarded and well positioned resources group in the ASX S&P 100 Index.

In December 2006 Paladin announced the conclusion of construction and staged commissioning of the Langer Heinrich mine in Namibia, the first complete new conventional uranium mining operation to come into production in a decade.

Figure 1
Offer Premiums to Summit Shareholders

Notes:

1. VWAP means the volume weighted average price for the stated number of trading days prior to announcement of the Offer on 27 February 2007 (Announcement Date).
2. The Implied Offer Price is based on Paladin's Offer of 1 Paladin Share for every 2.04 Summit Shares and the Paladin 5 day VWAP.
3. Summit shareholders who accept the Offer will receive Paladin Shares in accordance with the terms of the Offer and the reference to the Implied Offer Price should not be taken as suggesting that Summit shareholders that accept the Offer will receive cash. The Implied Offer Price is not fixed. As you are being offered Paladin Shares as consideration for Your Summit Shares, the Implied Offer Price will vary with the market price of Paladin Shares.

Figure 2
Implied Offer Price Compared with Summit Share Price

Notes:

1. The Implied Offer Price is based on Paladin's Offer of 1 Paladin Share for every 2.04 Summit Shares and the Paladin 5 day VWAP.
2. Summit shareholders who accept the Offer will receive Paladin Shares in accordance with the terms of the Offer and the reference to the Implied Offer Price should not be taken as suggesting that Summit shareholders that accept the Offer will receive cash. The Implied Offer Price is not fixed. As you are being offered Paladin Shares as consideration for Your Summit Shares, the Implied Offer Price will vary with the market price of Paladin Shares.

Paladin is also well down the path towards development of its second asset – Kayelekera in Malawi, Southern Africa.

The Offer gives you the opportunity to become a shareholder in Paladin, a uranium producer with exploration and development upside

By accepting the Offer, you will become a shareholder in a uranium producing company which enjoys excellent exposure to current strong uranium pricing and has no legacy pre-2006 sales contracts.

You will also retain significant exploration upside, retain exposure to a uranium focused company and inherit a management team and board with the requisite skills and demonstrated ability to bring a uranium mine into production.

In December 2006 Paladin announced the conclusion of construction and staged commissioning of the Langer Heinrich mine in Namibia, the first complete new conventional uranium mining operation to come into production in a decade. The circuit is currently in ramp up phase and has produced Paladin's first uranium oxide concentrate – commonly known as "yellowcake". A number of commissioning problems have surfaced which are considered normal at this stage of production ramp-up. The first commercial shipment of uranium is scheduled for March 2007.

Langer Heinrich is expected to produce 2.6 Mlbs per annum of U_3O_8 which it will sell into a prudent balance of spot market and long term contracts with large nuclear power utilities. The operation has a current planned life of 17 years. Paladin has announced an intention to expand production to 3.7 Mlbs per annum relatively soon after commissioning the current facility, subject to the expansion meeting required economic objectives.

Paladin is also well down the path towards development of its second asset – the Kayelekera Project in Malawi, Southern Africa. A Development Agreement has been entered into with the Republic of Malawi, which will provide a 10-year fiscal and operational stability period for the Kayelekera project. The Bankable Feasibility Study by GRD Minproc (Pty) Ltd of South Africa has been completed and shows that the Kaylekera project is financially and technically viable, with an 11 year project life. The Paladin board has approved project development and preliminary works have already commenced, which will keep the project on schedule for the proposed start-up in September 2008. Kayelekera is expected to produce 3.3 Mlbs per annum of U_3O_8 for the first 7 years and 1.17 Mlbs per annum of U_3O_8 for the last 4 years. Mining licence approvals are expected toward the end of March 2007.

On 30 November 2006 Paladin issued US$250 million convertible bonds due in 2011. The bonds are unsubordinated, unsecured obligations and carry a coupon rate of 4.50% per annum, payable semi-annually, and are convertible into Paladin Shares at US$7.685 per share (representing a conversion premium of approximately 38% above the price of Paladin Shares at the time of pricing (A$7.090 on 30 November 2006, or US$5.569 based on then-current exchange rates)). The net proceeds of the bonds will be used to advance further the development of the Kayelekera Project, establish a uranium marketing subsidiary, fund opportunities as they arise to support acquisitions and corporate growth and for general corporate purposes. Paladin's uranium marketing subsidiary will, amongst other things, establish its own uranium inventory to afford the Paladin Group flexibility and stability of ongoing supply, in a dynamic uranium market.

Summit's recent trading value presents a valuation per pound of U_3O_8 at a premium to Paladin's

Although Paladin began production at the Langer Heinrich Uranium Project in December 2006, and has scheduled start-up at the Kayelekera Project in September 2008, it was trading at a marginally lower value per JORC / NI 43-101 pound of resource than Summit at the date of this Bidder's Statement. This is also despite the fact that Summit has a greater exposure to the downside of State Government policy risk. This suggests Summit is already fully valued relative to Paladin. Paladin is offering a further premium to this valuation.

Figure 3 below shows a comparison of Summit's valuation for JORC / NI 43-101 resource pounds of U_3O_8 relative to Paladin's based on the closing price on ASX on 26 February 2007 and the Implied Offer Price.

Figure 3
Comparative Ratios of Enterprise Value to JORC/NI 43-101 Resource Pounds of U₃O₈

Notes:

1. Each company's ratio of enterprise value to JORC/NI 43-101 pounds of U₃O₈ has been determined on the basis of its closing share price in Australian dollars plus interest bearing liabilities net of cash in Australian dollars as at the last reported date prior to 26 February 2007.
2. Summit shareholders should exercise caution when considering Figure 3. Factors affecting each company may impact to differing extents on the enterprise value upon which the chart is based. The ratio of enterprise value to JORC/NI 43-101 pounds of U₃O₈ is only one of a number of potential bases for comparing the two companies.
3. No allowance has been made for reported historical resources (ie JORC/NI-43 101 non-compliant resources) or other assets to which value may be ascribed in each company's share price. In particular, Summit has only published a JORC-compliant resource statement in respect of the Valhalla deposit. Summit is presently completing work on the compilation of a JORC-compliant resource estimate for the remaining 7 of its uranium deposits.

Summit's expected production date for the Mount Isa Project is overly optimistic

Paladin understands that Summit anticipates production from the Mount Isa Project in 2010*.

In Paladin's view, this is overly optimistic. Paladin's view is that a production target in or after 2012 is a more realistic expectation. This view is based on Paladin's development experience and understanding of the likely development process in Queensland, should uranium mining be allowed in that State.

Bringing the project to production will involve a number of risky and complex matters, such as completing resource definition to reserve levels of confidence, solving significant metallurgical challenges on U₃O₈ recovery to develop an optimal process design, developing economic mine plans, obtaining all necessary government approvals, including by preparing an Environmental Impact Assessment statement, providing for stakeholder consultation and dealing with community and social issues, raising sufficient equity and/or debt finance for construction and working capital, securing necessary offtake agreements with nuclear utilities to support the chosen financing package, constructing the facilities and obtaining the necessary workforce.

The Offer allows you to maintain your exposure to any potential change in State Government uranium mining policy while providing an opportunity for diversification of risk

As a Paladin shareholder you will retain upside exposure to any positive changes in State Government policy towards mining of uranium.

However, in contrast to Summit, which only has assets in Queensland, Paladin has an extensive portfolio of quality assets in Southern Africa, Queensland, Western Australia and the Northern Territory. By accepting Paladin's Offer and receiving Paladin Shares you will become a shareholder in a company with a more geographically diversified asset base. This will reduce the impact on your investment should State Government policy trend against uranium mining.

Further information on the current status of State Government uranium mining policy is set out in section 12.2.

Paladin has an extensive portfolio of quality assets in Southern Africa, Queensland, Western Australia and the Northern Territory.

Paladin's strong balance sheet and upcoming operating cash flow will be available to support the development of Summit's uranium assets.

Summit shareholders will benefit from Paladin's financial strength and management expertise

Paladin is a well respected, S&P/ASX 100 Australian-based resource group with a strong growth focus in uranium resource development. On 1 June 2006, Paladin was also added to the Morgan Stanley Capital International Inc (MSCI) World Capital Index Series for Australia Energy Industry Group sector.

In addition to its ASX listing, Paladin is listed on the TSX under the symbol "PDN" with subsidiary listings on the Munich Stock Exchange, Berlin-Bremen Stock Exchange, Stuttgart Stock Exchange and Frankfurt Stock Exchange under the symbol "PUR". The company is also quoted by Pink Sheets LLC for US over-the-counter securities market trading under the symbol "PALAF".

Paladin has a management team with a solid track record and proven experience in the uranium industry. This team includes specialists in geology, mining, processing, marketing, project development, financing and corporate governance. The management team has demonstrated their ability, via Langer Heinrich, to identify, explore, construct and commission a world class uranium mine. The Paladin management team's expertise will increase the likelihood of bringing Summit's tenements into production and therefore the value of Summit's assets.

Paladin's strong balance sheet and upcoming operating cash flow will be available to support the development of Summit's uranium assets. Paladin can more readily secure sufficient funding to ensure continued exploration of Summit's tenements and to eventually unlock the upside potential at the Valhalla/Skal, Andersons and other Mount Isa deposits. Significant capital investment will be required for these projects and the full potential of Summit's assets will only be realised if these funds are available.

In addition, there may (depending on the level of acceptances of the Offer) be minor synergies associated with combining Summit's operations with those of Paladin's, including cost savings achievable through the consolidation of corporate costs, as well as the elimination of administration costs of the Mt Isa Joint Venture.

Increased marketability of Paladin Shares

If you accept the Offer, you will benefit from a substantial increase in the marketability of your Paladin Shares, compared with Your Summit Shares. As shown below the average daily trading value of Paladin Shares on both the ASX and TSX since August 2006 has significantly outweighed the trading value of Summit Shares. As a holder of Paladin Shares you will be able to liquidate your holding more rapidly than if you held Summit Shares with the same value.

Figure 4
Comparison of Average Daily Trading Values of Paladin and Summit

Paladin is offering accelerated payment

Paladin is offering to issue the Paladin Shares due to you for Your Summit Shares generally on or before 7 days after the date of your acceptance or, if this Offer is subject to a defeating condition when you accept this Offer, within 7 days after this Offer becomes unconditional.

This is a substantial acceleration of the periods for payment of consideration required under the Corporations Act.

You should consult your broker or financial adviser to ascertain the impact of the risks outlined below on the value of Your Summit Shares.

What happens if you do not accept?

If you choose not to accept the Offer, there are certain risks of which you should be aware:

- There is the chance that State Government uranium mining policy will not be changed to allow the unlocking of Summit's deposits in the near future. Significant amounts of cash will be required to maintain and grow Summit's assets over this non-producing period leaving Summit in the position of having to source these funds by one means or another.
- If the Offer ends, Summit Shares may revert towards pre-bid price levels in the absence of another bidder making an offer. The emergence of another bidder may be unlikely, particularly if Paladin acquires sufficient Summit Shares to prevent another bidder from proceeding to compulsory acquisition or achieving effective control.

- Even if Summit remains listed on ASX and NZX, depending on the level of acceptances of the Offer, the liquidity of Summit Shares may be substantially reduced, making it harder for you to dispose of Your Summit Shares in the future.

You should consult your broker or financial adviser to ascertain the impact of the risks outlined above on the value of Your Summit Shares.

2.5 Principal activities of Paladin and Paladin Group

(a) Langer Heinrich Uranium Project

The Langer Heinrich Uranium Project in Namibia is located in the Namib Naukluft Desert, 280 kilometres west of the capital, Windhoek and 90 kilometres east of the major seaport of Walvis Bay.

Paladin purchased the Langer Heinrich Project in August 2002 from the previous owner, Aztec Resources Ltd (formerly Acclaim Uranium NL (Acclaim)). The project is now owned 100% by Paladin through its wholly owned Namibian subsidiary, Langer Heinrich Uranium (Pty) Ltd. The property is comprised of one mining licence, ML140, covering 44 square kilometres. Paladin has also recently been granted an exploration licence, EPL 3500, situated immediately west of ML140, which protects the interpreted western extension of the Langer Heinrich Uranium Deposit and offers excellent potential to expand the resource base of Langer Heinrich even further.

The Langer Heinrich uranium deposit was discovered in 1973 by Gencor Limited (Gencor), a major South African mining house. Gencor explored the project extensively from 1973 to 1983. Their work included some 27,000 metres of drilling, excavation of 32 exploratory shafts, trial open pit mining and intensive metallurgical test work. Low uranium prices prevented development of the project however, and the property was acquired by Acclaim in 1998. Acclaim undertook further exploration and completed a pre-feasibility study in 1999. Acclaim sold the project in 2002 when it was acquired by Paladin.

Langer Heinrich is a calcrete type uranium deposit associated with valley-fill sediments occurring within an extensive Tertiary palaeodrainage system. The uranium mineralisation takes the form of carnotite which is a secondary oxidized mineral containing both uranium and vanadium. The deposit occurs over a 15-kilometre length of the palaeochannel with seven higher grade pods named as Details 1 to 7.

In July 2005 the Ministry of Mines and Energy in Namibia granted a mining licence to Langer Heinrich Uranium (Pty) Ltd for a 25-year term to July 2030. Exploration Prospecting Licence 3500 was granted in October 2006, protecting the interpreted western extension of the Langer Heinrich Uranium Deposit.

In 2006 Paladin completed a drilling program of 6,355m of RC drilling from 231 holes (confined to Details 3, 4, 5 and 6 targeting the mineralised palaeochannel extending east from the Detail 1 orebody). Mineral resource specialists Hellman and Schofield (H&S) have completed a revised mineral resource estimate for these Details. Updated results for the Langer Heinrich Deposit are reported below using a 250ppm U₃O₈ cut-off. Paladin released a NI 43-101 resource report for the Langer Heinrich Deposit on 12 January 2007. This report is available from Paladin's website at www.paladinresources.com.au.

Langer Heinrich Uranium Project (Details 1 to 7) Mineral Resource - JORC (2004) and NI 43-101 compliant At 250ppm Cut-off

	Mt	Grade % U₃O₈	Tonnes U₃O₈	Million lbs U₃O₈
Measured Resources	22.7	0.06	14,634	32.26
Indicated Resources	14.5	0.06	7,936	17.49
Total	37.2	0.06	22,570	49.75
Inferred Resources	43.4	0.06	25,360	55.91

Compared to the previous Mineral Resources announced in 2005 (also reported at a 250ppm cut-off) the above resource estimates represents a 9% increase in contained U₃O₈, comprising of a 12% increase in the Measured and Indicated Resources and a 6% increase in the Inferred Resources.

2 Information on Paladin and Paladin Group

A Bankable Feasibility Study (BFS) of the Langer Heinrich Project was completed in April 2005 which confirmed that Langer Heinrich could be developed as a profitable uranium mining operation.

Based on the Measured and Indicated Resources at the time, the BFS determined a scheduled mine life of 11 years and a process plant life of 15 years. Based on mill throughput design, the BFS demonstrates that 1,180tpa of U_3O_8 could be produced for the first 11 years at a head feed grade of 0.0875% U_3O_8 and 401tpa U_3O_8 over the last 4 years, using accumulated low grade stockpiles grading 0.032% U_3O_8 . Increases in the uranium price subsequent to the completion of the BFS allowed for the estimation of a new reserve at a price of $30/lb, which extended the planned mine life to its current 17 years.

Project construction at Langer Heinrich commenced in September 2005 and construction and staged commissioning was successfully completed in December 2006. The mining operation is well advanced, supplying ore to the crusher. The crushing, scrubbing, attritioning, leaching/heating, CCD's and tails discharge slurry circuit are currently in ramp up phase to full production, providing pregnant liquors to the uranium oxide extraction circuit. This circuit consisting of ion exchange, precipitation, elution and product preparation is fully functional and has produced Paladin's first uranium oxide concentrate. GRD Minproc, the Project Manager, has demobilized the primary construction work force and transferred the project to Paladin's operational staff. A select team of 50 construction people remain on site to complete priority construction rectification work which will enable the plant to meet full design production.

The operational team, under the leadership of Wyatt Buck (ex Cameco), is fully recruited and trained (114 in total with only 4 non-Namibians). The team worked with GRD Minproc throughout the commissioning stage and a smooth transition of the project to Paladin's operational staff was achieved.

The mining operation is designed to produce 2.6 Mlbs per annum of U_3O_8 from 1.5Mt per annum of calcrete associated ores by ore beneficiation, alkaline leaching (heating to 750C), counter-current decantation, ion exchange, precipitation and calcining. A proposed stage 2 expansion in late 2008 is designed to increase capacity to 3.7 Mlbs U_3O_8 per annum, targeted for completion in late 2008/early 2009.

As Paladin announced in December 2006, the plant circuits have not yet been optimised and a number of commissioning problems have surfaced which are considered normal at this stage of production ramp-up. The most significant of these problems include intermittent jamming of the apron feeder, underperformance to design parameters of the attritioning circuit and minor leakage of leach tank seals. Current work is under way to rectify these issues. The processing circuits including leach, CCD and precipitation to packaging are operating and performing well, with only minor modifications required to address them.

Paladin's operations team, assisted by GRD Minproc, is methodically mitigating the range of handover list items. Paladin is confident it will achieve design production rate of 2.6 Mlbs U_3O_8 by the end of the ramp up period in June 2007.

Paladin has been successful in securing sales contracts which account for 7.7 million pounds of Langer Heinrich uranium production over the period 2007 to 2012. Pricing in all three contracts is market-related at time of delivery and is subject to escalating floor and ceiling components.

(b) Kayelekera Project

The Kayelekera Uranium Project is located in northern Malawi in Southern Africa, 650 kilometres north of the country's capital city, Lilongwe and 53 kilometres by road west of the provincial town of Karonga. The Kayelekera orebody is covered by an Exclusive Prospecting Licence of 157 square kilometres with its term expiring in July 2007. The Company expects to apply for a Mining Licence in the first quarter of 2007.

Paladin acquired an interest in Kayelekera in 1998 through a joint venture with an unlisted Australian company, Balmain Resources Pty Ltd which then held exploration rights over the project area. Paladin has since acquired 100% equity in the project which is held through its wholly owned Malawian subsidiary, Paladin (Africa) Limited.

Following completion of a resource drilling program in 2005 mineral resource specialists Hellman and Schofield Pty Ltd completed the following new resource estimates:

Kayelekera project mineral resources - JORC (2004) and NI 43-101 compliant

At 300ppm U₃O₈ Cut-off

	Mt	Grade % U₃O₈	Tonnes U₃O₈	Million lbs U₃O₈
Measured Resources	2.20	0.12	2,731	6.02
Indicated Resources	13.11	0.08	10,884	23.99
Total	15.31	0.09	13,615	30.01
Inferred Resources	3.40	0.06	2,040	4.50

At 600ppm U₃O₈ Cut-off

	Mt	Grade % U₃O₈	Tonnes U₃O₈	Million lbs U₃O₈
Measured Resources	1.58	0.16	2,459	5.42
Indicated Resources	6.98	0.12	8,235	18.15
Total	8.56	0.12	10,694	23.57
Inferred Resources	1.19	0.09	1,107	2.45

The Central Electricity Generating Board of Great Britain (CEGB) discovered the high grade Kayelekera sandstone uranium deposit in the early 1980's and worked on the project over an 8-year period, culminating in a full feasibility study in 1991 assessing the viability of a conventional open pit mining operation. This study indicated that the project was uneconomic using the mining model adopted and the low uranium prices prevailing at that time. The project was abandoned in 1992.

Since Paladin's entry into the Kayelekera Project in 1998 there has been more than a sixfold increase in the price of uranium. This, coupled with the availability of more advanced processes for uranium recovery and improvements in investment policies and infrastructure within Malawi, has greatly enhanced the potential viability of the project.

The BFS by GRD Minproc (Pty) Ltd of South Africa, has been completed and shows that the Kayelekera project is financially and technically viable, with an 11 year project life. The Paladin Board has approved project development and preliminary works have already commenced, which will keep the project on schedule for the proposed start-up in September 2008. The Board has approved capital costs of up to US$185M. Kayelekera will comprise an open pit mine with conventional acid leach process and is expected to produce 3.3 Mlbs per annum of U₃O₈ for the first 7 years and 1.17 Mlbs per annum of U₃O₈ for the last 4 years.

2 Information on Paladin and Paladin Group

The finalised BFS results utilising the Measured and Indicated Resources above and run on a uranium price of US$30/lbs U₃O₈ for pit optimisation determined the following Reserves:

	Mt	Grade % U₃O₈	Tonnes U₃O₈	Million lbs U₃O₈
Proven Reserves	1.78	0.14	2,544	5.60
Probable Reserves	8.68	0.10	8,834	19.48
Total	10.46	0.11	11,377	25.08

All documentation for the Kayelekera Mining License Application, including the BFS, Environmental Assessment Study and Management Plan, has been prepared and will be presented to the Ministry of Mines and Energy in Malawi for review and approval. The mining licence application has been made for the maximum of 25 years. Initial responses have been favourable and approvals to allow the Project to proceed to development and mining are expected toward the end of March 2007.

A Development Agreement has been entered into with the government of The Republic of Malawi, which will provide a 10-year fiscal and operational stability period for the Kayelekera project. The material terms of the fiscal regime detailed in the Development Agreement are as follows:

- 15% carried equity in the project company to the Republic of Malawi (in return for the next two items below);
- Corporate tax rate reduced from 30% to an effective 27.5%;
- The 10% resource rent tax in Malawi reduced to zero;
- Reduced royalty rate from 5% to 1.5% (years 1 – 3) and to 3% (years 3 plus);
- No 17.5% VAT or import duty during the stability period;
- Immediate 100% capital write off for tax purposes;
- Paladin to provide social infrastructure in the Kayelekera region, including modern primary and secondary schools and health facilities for the local population most probably funded in the third year of the project life;
- Thin capitalisation (debt:equity) ratio of 80:20 for the project; and
- Stability period of 10 years from commencement of production in which there will be no increases to tax/royalty regime and a commitment to provide the benefit of any tax/royalty decrease during the period.

Paladin (Africa) Limited has also recently been granted three exclusive prospecting licences in Malawi covering an aggregate 1,139 square kilometres. Two of these are contiguous with the Kayelekera Exclusive Prospecting Licence while the third lies along the western shore of Lake Malawi. All three cover areas of Karroo Sandstone which hosts the Kayelekera orebody and the three areas are considered prospective for Kayelekera type uranium deposits. Airborne radiometric and geochemical anomalies were identified during previous work in the 1980's. Paladin has not yet commenced work on these properties.

(c) Valhalla/Skal Uranium Project (50%)

On 10 July 2006, Paladin announced a takeover bid for all of the shares in Valhalla Uranium Limited (Valhalla) in consideration for 1 share of Paladin for each 3.16 Valhalla shares. The takeover closed on 15 September 2006 and Paladin compulsorily acquired the remaining shares on 27 October 2006.

The assets owned by Valhalla included a 50% interest in the Valhalla/Skal Uranium Deposits located in northwest Queensland. The Valhalla and Skal uranium deposits are within the Mt Isa JV area where Summit is manager and holds a 50% interest. Paladin's wholly owned subsidiary, Mt Isa, is a 50% contributing participant to the Mt Isa JV.

Summit Resources (Aust) has commenced the Supreme Court Action against Mt Isa in relation to the Mt Isa JV, details of which are set out in sections 7.4(c) and 12.3.

The Valhalla Uranium Deposit is located 40km northwest of Mount Isa city on EPM9221. In the September quarter a revised and independently validated JORC compliant resource estimate was reported for the Valhalla uranium deposit as follows and as previously announced.

Valhalla deposit mineral resources - JORC (2004) and NI 43-101 compliant

At 0.023% U₃O₈ cut off

	Mt	Grade % U ₃ O ₈	Tonnes U ₃ O ₈	Paladin share
Indicated Resources	21.3	0.08	16,900t or 37.4Mlb	50%
Inferred Resources	12	0.075	9,000t or 19.6Mlb	50%

The modelled resource at Valhalla remains open to the north and south along strike, and down plunge. In the September 2006 quarter near surface metallurgical diamond drilling and resource drilling targeted at extending the resource along strike and down plunge commenced. Core and metallurgical samples have been dispatched to laboratories in Perth and Sydney.

The Skal Uranium Deposit is located 32km north of Mount Isa on EPM14048. Historic resources as previously announced at Skal are reported as follows:

Skal deposit – historic resource

	Mt	Grade % U ₃ O ₈	Tonnes U ₃ O ₈	Paladin share
Historic Resources*	4.2 (approx)	0.10% to 0.13%	5,000t or 11Mlb	50%

* Information in relation to the historic resources has been provided as it is believed to be material information of interest to potential investors.

Two mineralised shoots have now been defined at Skal. The uranium mineralisation in both the northern and southern shoots at Skal is yet to be closed off by drilling either along strike or at depth. Sufficient holes have now been drilled into the southern shoot and JORC compliant resource estimates are currently being modelled and calculated with estimates expected to be finalised in early 2007. The historic resource for the Skal Deposit does not conform to either Canadian National Instrument 43-101 or JORC (2004) requirements for reporting purposes and, as such, Paladin is not treating these historic resource estimates as current reserves or resources. These estimates should not be relied upon until they have been verified by further due diligence and by a "Qualified Person" for the purposes of NI 43-101 and a "Competent Person" for purposes of JORC (2004).

2 Information on Paladin and Paladin Group

(d) Bigrlyi Joint Venture Project (41.7%) – Northern Territory, Australia

The Valhalla assets also included a 41.7% interest in the Bigrlyi Uranium Deposit in the Northern Territory.

The Bigrlyi Project comprises 10 granted exploration retention licences located approximately 350km northwest of Alice Springs. The project is a joint venture with Energy Metals Ltd (53.3% and project manager) and Southern Cross Exploration (5%). The ground was subject to significant exploration activity in the period 1974 to 1982.

New JORC (2004) and NI 43-101 compliant resource estimates were completed by Hellman & Schofield in July 2006 and December 2006, respectively, and are available from Paladin's website. Estimates of uranium and vanadium mineralisation were generated for 5 deposits – anomalies 2, 3, 4, 7 and 15 – and each deposit comprised of between 2 and 5 separate mineralised zones. Results are summarised below at a cut-off of 0.10%.

Bigrlyi deposit mineral resources - JORC (2004) and NI 43-101 compliant

At 0.1% U₃O₈ cut off grade

	Mt	% U ₃ O ₈	%V ₂ O ₅	Kt U ₃ O ₈	Mlb U ₃ O ₈	KtV ₂ O ₅
Indicated Resources	1.05	0.23	0.22	2.45	5.40	2.31
Inferred Resources	0.78	0.17	0.22	1.34	2.95	1.68

Initial results from the 30 holes drilled during the current drilling campaign have returned encouraging results (announced by Energy Metals Limited on the ASX 24 November 2006). 13 holes returned intersections greater than 0.16% eU₃O₈ and include intercepts of 2.45m @ 1.01% eU₃O₈ from a depth of 157.7m in Anomaly 4. This drilling is focussing on extending the resources status both along strike and down plunge of the known deposits.

(e) Manyingee Project

The Manyingee Uranium Project is located in the north west of Western Australia, 1,100 kilometres north of Perth, the state capital and 85 kilometres inland from the coastal township of Onslow. The property is comprised of three mining leases covering 13 square kilometres.

Paladin purchased the Manyingee Project in 1998 from Afmeco Mining and Exploration Pty Ltd (AFMEX) (92.34%), a subsidiary company of Cogema of France and Urangesellschaft Australia Pty Ltd (7.66%). Paladin's 100% interest in Manyingee is held through its wholly owned subsidiary, Paladin Energy Minerals NL.

Total Mining Australia Pty Ltd (which was subsequently acquired by AFMEX) discovered uranium mineralisation at Manyingee in 1973 during regional exploration. Between 1973 and 1984, 400 holes were drilled and this established the extent and continuity of sedimentary uranium mineralisation in permeable sandstone in palaeochannels. Field trials by AFMEX demonstrated that the Manyingee uranium deposit is amenable to extraction by in-situ leaching (ISL).

The Manyingee Project contains JORC (1999) Code compliant resources as follows:

At 300ppm U₃O₈ Cut-off

	Mt	Grade % U ₃ O ₈	Tonnes U ₃ O ₈	Million lbs U ₃ O ₈
Indicated Resources	7.9	0.10	8,080	17.81
Inferred Resources	4.2	0.07	2,810	6.19

The Manyingee project is currently mothballed due to the negative uranium policies of the State Government and field work has been deferred while priority is given to the Southern African development projects at Langer Heinrich and Kayelekera.

(f) Oobagooma Project

The Oobagooma Project is located in the West Kimberley Region of Western Australia, 1,900 kilometres north-north-east of Perth, the state capital, and 75 kilometres north east of Derby on freehold land owned by the Commonwealth Government and used by the military for training purposes. The area is covered by two applications for exploration licences covering 392 square kilometres. Consent of the Commonwealth Government and the Department of Defence will be required before mining tenements can be granted by the State.

Paladin acquired a call option in 1998 in relation to the purchase of the Oobagooma Project and, in turn, granted a put option to the original holder of the project. Both options are subject to the exploration licences being granted by the State.

The Oobagooma project area was explored by AFMEX from 1983 to 1986 during which time extensive zones of uranium mineralisation were discovered.

Using geostatistical methods AFMEX calculated a historical estimate of uranium mineralisation at Oobagooma. This work was done before the JORC Code had been formulated and was thus not carried out in accordance with the Code. The AFMEX estimate is follows:

At 350ppm U₃O₈ Cut-off

	Mt	Grade % U₃O₈	Tonnes U₃O₈	Million lbs U₃O₈
Historic Resources*	8.3	0.12	9,950	21.94

* Information in relation to the historic resources has been provided as it is believed to be material information of interest to potential investors

The main exploration effort, once the tenements have been granted, will be to confirm continuity of the uranium mineralisation by infill drilling concentrating on mineralised redox fronts as re-interpreted and allow JORC compliant resource estimates to be made. The style of mineralisation is believed to be amenable to recovery of uranium in a future ISL mining operation. The historic resource for the Oobagooma Deposit does not conform to either Canadian National Instrument 43-101 or JORC (2004) requirements for reporting purposes and, as such, Paladin is not treating these historic resource estimates as current reserves or resources. These estimates should not be relied upon until they have been verified by further due diligence and by a "Qualified Person" for the purposes of NI 43-101 and a "Competent Person" for purposes of JORC (2004).

(g) Quasar Uranium Joint Venture

The Joint Venture with Quasar Resources Pty Ltd covers two exploration licences in the northern Frome Basin in South Australia. The two licences cover 1,051 square kilometres. Paladin holds a 15% free carried interest in Exploration Licence 3001 and a 20% free carried interest in Exploration Licence 3078. Quasar is a wholly owned subsidiary of Heathgate Resources Pty Ltd, operator of the Beverley ISL uranium mine which is situated immediately south of the Joint Venture tenements. Quasar is operator and manager of the Joint Venture. Heathgate Resources is an Australian affiliate of General Atomics of the USA.

The exploration licences are considered prospective for palaeochannel uranium mineralisation and Quasar has conducted a number of exploration campaigns on the ground. To date no measurable resources have been identified.

2 Information on Paladin and Paladin Group

(h) Uranium Database

Paladin owns a unique uranium database, compiled over 30 years of investigations by the international uranium mining house Uranerzbergbau in Germany. The database incorporates all aspects of the uranium mining and exploration industry and includes detailed exploration data for Africa and Australia. It can be used to quickly research uranium prospects, deposits and mineralisation on a country by country basis. Paladin continues to evaluate opportunities for acquiring additional uranium projects from this database.

(i) Deep Yellow Ltd

In late 2004 and mid 2005 Paladin sold three non-core Australian uranium projects to Deep Yellow Ltd (Deep Yellow) – an Australian company listed on the ASX. As a result of these sales Paladin held 22,500,000 fully paid shares in Deep Yellow, 25,000,000 $0.01 options expiring on 31 December 2007 and 12,500,000 $0.085 options expiring on 31 July 2008. Paladin has subsequently increased its holding in Deep Yellow to 11% of the issued capital, being 96,126,163 ordinary fully paid shares acquired through the exercise of options, direct acquisitions and by participating in various rights issues. Paladin has retained the 12,500,000 $0.085 options. Paladin is also entitled to a 2% gross royalty on production from the Napperby and North East Arunta projects in the Northern Territory.

Deep Yellow Ltd is a dedicated uranium exploration company with exploration holdings in Australia and Namibia. Deep Yellow announced the acquisition of Superior Uranium Pty Ltd, which owns exploration permits in northwest and north Queensland. In addition, Deep Yellow recently announced an agreement with Toro Energy Ltd, whereby Deep Yellow would dispose of the Napperby Project to Toro Energy.

(c) Management commentary on historical results

Paladin's current activities are primarily focused on development of its various global uranium projects and the Income Statements and Balance Sheets above reflect this. The accumulated loss figure of US$36.0 million as at 31 December 2006 predominantly reflects historical exploration and evaluation expenditure and corporate costs. Paladin's policy is to expense exploration and evaluation expenditure as incurred until such time as a decision to proceed to development has been made, at which time costs are then capitalised as an asset.

The increase in cash from 30 June 2006 is attributable to completion of a US$250m issue of convertible bonds on 15 December 2006. Other financial assets are higher at 31 December 2006 relating to both a higher share price and additional share holdings in Deep Yellow. The increase in property, plant and equipment from June 2006 was driven predominantly by construction activities at the Langer Heinrich Uranium Project in Namibia. Exploration and evaluation expenditure assets are higher at 31 December 2006 to US$158 million mainly as a result of the allocation of the consideration for the Valhalla acquisition.

The increase in trade and other payables from June 2006 is primarily attributable to completion of construction and commissioning activities at the Langer Heinrich Uranium Project with transition to operations. Interest bearing loans and borrowings are higher at 31 December 2006 as a result of the issue of convertible bonds and additional debt drawings under the Langer Heinrich project finance facility. A deferred tax liability is recognised at 31 December 2006 relating to both the equity component of the convertible bonds and the increase in value of Deep Yellow investments.

(d) Forecast financial information

Given the current status of Paladin's operations, lack of production history at Langer Heinrich and volatility in U₃O₈ prices, Paladin believes that it does not have a reasonable basis for the preparation and presentation of forecast financial information in this Bidder's Statement.

3.3 Rights and liabilities attaching to Paladin Shares

(a) Introduction

The rights and liabilities attaching to the Paladin Shares which will be issued as the consideration under the Offer are set out in Paladin's constitution and in the Corporations Act.

The main rights and liabilities attaching to the Paladin Shares are summarised below.

(b) Meetings of shareholders and voting rights

Each Paladin shareholder is entitled to receive notice of, attend and vote at general meetings of Paladin and to receive all notices, accounts and other documents required to be sent to shareholders under the constitution of Paladin or the Corporations Act.

At a general meeting, every person present who is a Paladin shareholder or a proxy, attorney or representative of a Paladin shareholder has one vote on a show of hands and one vote on a poll for each fully paid share held (with adjusted voting rights for partly paid shares). Voting at any general meeting of Paladin shareholders is by a show of hands unless a poll is demanded by at least 5 Paladin shareholders entitled to vote on the resolution, Paladin shareholders holding not less than 5% of the total voting rights of all shareholders having the right to vote on the resolution, or the chairman.

(c) Dividends

The directors of Paladin may from time to time determine to distribute the profits of Paladin by way of dividend to Paladin shareholders entitled to the dividend. Each Paladin Share has the same dividend rights, subject to any special rights, arrangements or restrictions attached to the shares.

(d) Winding up

Subject to any special resolution or special rights attaching to any Paladin Shares or class of shares, Paladin shareholders will be entitled on a winding up to a share in any surplus assets of Paladin in proportion to the shares held by them.

(e) Transfer of shares

Paladin shareholders may transfer their Paladin Shares by a written transfer in the usual form or by a proper transfer effected in accordance with the ASTC Settlement Rules and ASX requirements. All transfers must comply with Paladin's constitution, the Listing Rules, the ASTC Settlement Rules and the Corporations Act. The directors may refuse to register a transfer of shares in circumstances permitted by the Listing Rules or the ASTC Settlement Rules. The directors must refuse to register a transfer of shares where required to do so by the Listing Rules or the ASTC Settlement Rules.

Paladin Shares are also traded on the TSX and may be transferred in accordance with the practices and procedures applicable to that exchange.

(f) Alteration of capital

The procedures set out in sections 246B to 246E of the Corporations Act must be followed for any variation of rights attached to Paladin Shares. Under that section, with the consent in writing of the holders of at least three quarters of the issued shares in the particular class, or the sanction of a special resolution passed at a meeting of the holders of shares in that class, the rights attached to a class of shares may be varied or cancelled. In either case, the holders of not less than ten per cent of the votes in the class of shares whose rights have been varied or cancelled may apply to a court of competent jurisdiction to exercise its discretion to set aside such variation or cancellation.

(g) Proportional takeovers

The constitution of Paladin requires shareholder approval where a proportional off-market takeover offer is made in respect of Paladin Shares. If such a takeover offer is made, the directors of Paladin must ensure that a resolution of shareholders to approve the takeover bid is voted on.

Each Paladin shareholder (other than the offeror or a persons associated with the offeror) who, as at the end of the day on which the first offer is made under the bid, held Paladin Shares has one vote for each Paladin Share held. The vote is decided on a simple majority.

If the resolution is not passed, transfers which would have resulted from the acceptance of an offer will not be registered and the offer will be taken to have been withdrawn.

(h) Amendment

The constitution of Paladin may be amended only by a special resolution passed by at least three quarters of the votes cast by Paladin shareholders entitled to vote on the resolution. At least 28 days written notice specifying the intention to propose the resolution must be given.

3.4 Paladin option plans

(a) Current share option plan

On 21 November 2006, Paladin shareholders approved an 'Executive Share Option Plan'. Under this plan up to 5% of the issued capital of Paladin can be on offer at any one time to eligible executives of Paladin, as determined by the Paladin board. The maximum term of the options is 5 years, with the exercise price of the options being not less than the market value of a Paladin Share on the date of the grant. The options are convertible into fully paid ordinary shares of Paladin on a one for one basis and vest 3 years after their grant (or on such other date as determined by the board), except in the case of a takeover or change of control involving more than 50% of Paladin's issued shares. The percentage of granted options which vest will be determined based on Paladin's performance in terms of Paladin's total shareholder return compared with the other resource companies in the S&P/ASX 200 Index over the 3 years after the options are granted. Unvested options lapse on termination of employment or as determined by the Paladin board. Vested options lapse various periods after termination of employment, depending on the relevant circumstances. Options are granted at no cost under the plan and carry no dividend or voting rights. The terms of the plan may be amended with the approval of Paladin's shareholders. Further details of the plan are set out in Paladin's notice of AGM dated 17 October 2006, which is available from ASX's or Paladin's website.

4.4 Principal activities of Summit and Summit Group

Summit is focussed on uranium, copper, gold and base metal exploration and mine development projects in the Mount Isa metals province in northwest Queensland. Summit also has iron ore and phosphate development interests in the Constance Range region in far northwest Queensland.

(a) Uranium

Summit has a 50% interest in the Valhalla/Skal uranium deposits in Queensland, through the Mt Isa JV. The remaining 50% interest in these deposits is held by Paladin (through a wholly owned subsidiary) (see section 2.5(c)).

As noted in section 2.5(c), a JORC (2004) and NI 43-101 compliant resource estimate has been released for the Valhalla deposit. Summit has recently modelled and calculated resource estimates for Skal and its 100% interests in the Andersons, Bikini and Mirrioola uranium deposits, which are also near Mount Isa. These resource estimates are now being subjected to independent audits by resource consultants Hellman and Schofield. Summit is also preparing a resource estimate for its Watta uranium prospect. Further drilling is required at Tjilpa and Warwai to commence modelling and calculation of resource estimates for these uranium deposits. (Source: Summit's Quarterly Report for the period ending 31 December 2006.)

In addition, Summit has advised that it has a further fifteen uranium prospects within its tenements near Mount Isa on which exploration is yet to commence. These prospects are Red Alpha, Western, Mixabe, Crowbar, Mirrioola North, Mirrioola South, Pile, Hero, Woomera, Rich John, Drum, Calton, Narpajin, Bull Frog and Ecotte. (Source: Summit's Quarterly Report for the period ending 31 December 2006.)

Summit is also undertaking aerial surveys and other preliminary exploration of areas in the Georgina Basin, to the west of Mount Isa, in relation to which it has made 16 tenement applications. (Source: Summit's Quarterly Report for the period ending 31 December 2006.)

(b) Copper and gold

Summit is exploring for copper and/or gold at its Isa South, Isa North, May Downs, Mount Kelly, Apogee, Red Bull, Barkly (copper uranium) and Hornet targets near Mt Isa.

Summit completed 60 line kilometres of a 100 line kilometre IP geophysical survey in the quarter to 31 December 2007 (source: Summit's Quarterly Report for the period ending 31 December 2006). In its Quarterly Report for the period ending 30 September 2006 Summit reported drilling the first four holes into the Apogee and Red Bull copper gold targets, totalling 1,568 metres of drilling, encountering silica dolomite sulphide breccias within mine sequence shales and submitting core samples for base metal analysis. Summit has also completed a number of exploration drill holes into the Barkly copper uranium and Hornet copper targets and into the Golden Fault gold workings at May Downs (source: Summit's Quarterly Report for the period ending 30 September 2006).

(c) Iron ore, phosphate and base metal

Through its wholly owned subsidiary, Pacific Mines, Summit has five EPM applications (EPMs 14712, 14713, 14935, 15186 and 15187 covering 1,110km²), centred 30 kilometres southwest to 45 kilometres northwest of Zinifex's Century zinc mine in far northwest Queensland. Summit also has an option over two adjoining EPMs.

The Constance Range C, D, H iron ore deposits and the strike extension of E iron ore deposit, the Babbling Brooke Hill and Riversleigh phosphate deposits are located within the areas covered by Summit's EPM applications. These deposits were explored by BHP Billiton in the 1950s and 60s.

Summit has announced an intention to spin out its Constance Range iron ore, phosphate and base metal assets by separately funding and listing Pacific Mines on ASX and distribution of its shares to existing Summit shareholders.

5.5 Effect of the Offer on Summit Options

The Offer does not extend to the Summit Options. However, the Offer does extend to Summit Shares which are issued on the exercise of Options during the Offer Period.

Rule 12.2 of the Summit ESOP, under which the Staff Options have been issued, provides that the Staff Options may be exercised at any time during the period commencing on the date of issue until the date of expiry, and may be exercised:

- during a period from the earliest of the announcement of a takeover bid or the giving of a bidder's statement to the target through to the end of the Offer Period or one month later if no offers are made under the bid; or
- at any time after a shareholder or a group of associated shareholders become entitled to sufficient Summit Shares to give it or them the ability, and that ability is successfully exercised, in general meeting, to replace all or a majority of the Board.

One third of the Directors' Options are exercisable on each of the first, second and third anniversary of issue (being 9 November 2006). The terms of issue of the Directors' Options do not provide for the ability to exercise the Directors' Options earlier in the event of a takeover bid. The Directors' Options will therefore not be exercisable during the Offer Period.

In the case of Options granted to Mr David Berrie, the terms of grant are expressed to be subject to the terms of the Summit ESOP but to prevail over those terms in the event of inconsistency. Accordingly, there is a matter of legal interpretation as to whether those Options would or would not be exercisable during the Offer Period in the circumstances referred to in rule 12.2 of the Summit ESOP.

One third of the Consultants' Options are exercisable on each of the first, second and third anniversary of issue (being 9 November 2006). The terms of issue of the Consultants' Options do not provide for the ability to exercise the Consultants' Options earlier in the event of a takeover bid.

The above is a summary only. Option holders should seek their own advice on their eligibility to exercise their Options.

5 Information on Summit's securities

If not all of the Options are exercised (or otherwise cancelled or acquired by Paladin pursuant to agreements or other arrangements), and Paladin is entitled to compulsorily acquire any outstanding Summit Shares, Paladin presently intends to seek to compulsorily acquire or cancel any outstanding Options pursuant to Part 6A.2 of the Corporations Act, although it reserves the right not to do so.

5.6 No pre-Offer benefits

During the period of 4 months before the date of this Bidder's Statement, neither Paladin nor any associate of Paladin gave, or offered to give, or agreed to give a benefit to another person which was likely to induce the other person, or an associate of the other person, to:

- accept the Offer; or
- dispose of Summit Shares,

and which is not offered to all holders of Summit Shares under the Offer.

During the period from the date of this Bidder's Statement to the date before the date of the Offer, neither Paladin nor any associate of Paladin gave, or offered to give, or agreed to give a benefit to another person which was likely to induce the other person, or an associate of the other person, to:

- accept the Offer; or
- dispose of Summit Shares,

and which is not offered to all holders of Summit Shares under the Offer.

5.7 No escalation agreements

Neither Paladin nor any associate of Paladin has entered into any escalation agreement that is prohibited by section 622 of the Corporations Act.

6 Sources of consideration

The consideration for the acquisition of the Summit Shares to which the Offer relates will be satisfied wholly by the issue of Paladin Shares.

Subject to the satisfaction of the conditions to the Offer, there is no restriction on the ability of Paladin to issue the maximum number of Paladin Shares which it may be required to issue under the Offer.

7 Paladin's intentions in relation to Summit

7.1 Introduction

The intentions of Paladin are set out in this section of the Bidder's Statement. Those intentions have been formed on the basis of facts and information concerning Summit, and the general business environment, which are known at the time of preparing this Bidder's Statement. Final decisions will only be reached by Paladin in light of material information and circumstances at the relevant time. Accordingly, the statements set out in this section are statements of current intention only and accordingly may vary as new information becomes available or circumstances change.

7.2 Overview and rationale for the Offer

Paladin's primary objective in making the Offer is to secure control of Summit's uranium interests in Australia.

The proposed acquisition will add to or consolidate Paladin's interest in a number of potential medium to long term uranium projects in Australia, most importantly the Valhalla/Skal deposits.

The proposed acquisition will provide further diversification in geographical, political and resource terms for Paladin. The Australian assets of Summit will provide Paladin with further upside exposure to any change in State Government uranium mining policy, as well as retaining geographical diversity in the current Australian political climate.

The proposed acquisition represents a step forward in Paladin's growth strategy, which commenced with the successful acquisition of Valhalla Uranium Limited (which, through Paladin's wholly-owned subsidiary, Mt Isa Uranium Pty Ltd, is Summit's joint venture partner in the Mt Isa JV). Paladin believes the Valhalla/Skal deposits contain sizeable resources and will enhance the back end of Paladin's project pipeline.

There may (depending on the level of acceptances under the Offer) be minor synergies associated with combining Summit's operations with those of Paladin, including cost savings achievable through the consolidation of corporate costs and the potential simplification of the ownership and operation of the Mt Isa JV. Primarily, however, Paladin believes that it is by reason of its skills and capabilities in uranium specific geology, construction and development, processing and marketing, that it can bring added value to the Summit assets as owner and (to the extent that the Mt Isa JV continues) operator.

7.3 Intentions for Summit as a wholly owned controlled entity

This section 7.3 describes Paladin's intentions if Paladin and its associates acquire a relevant interest in 90% or more of the Summit Shares, and so becomes entitled to proceed to compulsory acquisition of outstanding Summit Shares in accordance with Part 6A.1 of the Corporations Act.

In that circumstance, Paladin's current intentions are as follows:

(a) Corporate matters

Paladin intends to:

- proceed with compulsory acquisition of the outstanding Summit Shares in accordance with the provisions of Part 6A.1 of the Corporations Act;
- arrange for Summit to be removed from the official list of the ASX and NZX (subject to any required approval on the part of the operators of those exchanges);
- replace the members of the Board with the nominees of Paladin. Replacement board members have not yet been identified by Paladin and their identity will depend on the circumstances at the relevant time. However, it is expected that the majority of the replacement board members will be members of Paladin's management team;

- subject to legal and taxation implications, terminate the Mt Isa Agreement and consolidate the Mt Isa JV (as Paladin would own, indirectly, 100% of the joint venture interests);
- cause Summit Resources (Aust) Pty Ltd to withdraw from the Supreme Court Litigation (which is discussed further in section 12.3); and
- terminate the employment arrangement with the existing Managing Director of Summit, Mr Alan Eggers, whose role and function will be assumed by various members of the Paladin management team.

(b) Review of operations and assets

After the end of the Offer Period, Paladin intends to conduct an immediate review of Summit's operations and assets on both a strategic and financial level to evaluate:

- Summit's performance, profitability and prospects (on an asset-by-asset basis);
- whether particular operations and assets of Summit demonstrate a strategic fit with those of Paladin and are consistent with Paladin's corporate objectives; and
- in the case of non-uranium assets, what value may be realised on the event of an orderly disposal.

The key objective of this review will be to ascertain which assets are to be retained and which (if any) are to be disposed of, and to ascertain whether improvements can be made to Summit's operations.

Based upon publicly available information, Paladin presently intends to retain, and continue to evaluate, explore and if viable develop, all of the Australian uranium assets of Summit. In particular, subject to the detailed findings of the asset-by-asset review mentioned above, Paladin confirms that it intends to continue with Summit's current planned exploration and appraisal activities within the Valhalla/Skal deposits. However, Paladin may decide to place greater emphasis on in-fill drilling, evaluating and developing the Valhalla deposit and to reduce work on Summit's other uranium prospects. At this stage, Paladin believes the better strategy may be to improve Valhalla as a development opportunity and subsequently develop Summit's other prospects. Paladin's final decision on the exploration and development priorities to be pursued will depend on the results of a full evaluation of all the project data and information.

Paladin has not currently formed any intention in relation to the non-uranium assets of Summit, including Pacific Mines, and will not do so until the completion of its review. However, as Paladin's primary expertise is in the area of uranium-specific geology, construction and development, processing and marketing, Paladin believes that the most likely outcome of its review will be a decision to dispose of the non-uranium assets, including Pacific Mines. If so, Paladin will determine the most efficient means of doing so given all the circumstances of the case. Options could include a trade sale, initial public offering or entitlement offer to Paladin shareholders (who would include former Summit shareholders) or a combination of approaches. Paladin will assess the status of the proposed demerger and listing of Pacific Mines to determine whether it can or should retain aspects of that proposal, although it presently believes that it is unlikely that it will proceed as an entitlement offer to Paladin shareholders.

(c) Impact on Employees

So far as Paladin is aware, the only employees of Summit are Mr Alan Eggers, Mr David Berrie and Ms Karen Brown. The position of Summit's personnel will be considered as part of the review noted in section 7.3(b) above, but Paladin believes that the most likely outcome of that review is that technical personnel (if any) will be retained and all executive directors and the company secretary will be made redundant. For any redundancies, Paladin will offer packages consistent with market practice, the terms of employment of the relevant personnel and other legal obligations.

7 Paladin's intentions in relation to Summit

7.4 Intentions for Summit as a part owned controlled entity

This section 7.4 describes Paladin's intentions if it acquires practical control of Summit, but is not entitled to proceed to compulsory acquisition in accordance with Part 6A.1 of the Corporations Act.

It should be noted that Paladin may acquire practical control of, or a significant degree of influence over, Summit at ownership levels below 50.1%.

In that circumstance, Paladin's current intentions are as follows:

(a) Corporate matters

After the end of the Offer Period, Paladin intends, subject to the Corporations Act, Listing Rules and the constitution of Summit:

- to seek (through discussion and negotiation, but failing agreement, by convening a meeting of Summit shareholders) to replace some of the members of the Board with nominees of Paladin, so that there is a majority of Paladin nominees on the Board and the proportion of such nominees is not less than the voting power of Paladin. If Summit remains listed on ASX, Paladin would consider, but not necessarily be bound by, the recommendations in the ASX Corporate Governance Guidelines when determining the composition of the Board. Replacement Board members have not yet been finally decided by Paladin and their identity will depend on the circumstances at the relevant time. However, it is expected that the majority of the replacement Board members will be members of the Paladin management team;
- through its nominees on the Board, support Summit's continued listing on the official list of the ASX and NZX, but only if the benefits of that listing outweigh the additional corporate and compliance costs of doing so; and
- propose, through its nominees on the Board, that Summit's current representatives on joint venture committees, including the operating committee of the Mt Isa JV, be replaced by nominees of Paladin, and that Paladin replace Summit as the operator of the joint venture.

It is possible that, even if Paladin is not entitled to proceed to compulsory acquisition of minority holdings after the end of the Offer Period under Part 6A.1 of the Corporations Act, it may subsequently become entitled to exercise rights of general compulsory acquisition under Part 6D.2 of the Corporations Act: for example, as a result of acquisitions of Summit Shares in reliance on the '3% creep' exception in item 9 of section 611 of the Corporations Act. If so, it intends to exercise those rights.

(b) Review of operations and assets

After the end of the Offer Period, Paladin intends, through its nominees on the Board, to propose that Summit undertake a review of Summit's assets and operations, along similar lines to that described in section 7.3(b).

Paladin intends, subject to the approval of the Board, to participate in this review.

Paladin will assess the status of the proposed demerger and listing of Pacific Mines and will, through its nominees on the Board, make recommendations as to whether it should proceed. If the demerger were to proceed as an entitlement offer to Summit shareholders (including Paladin), it is likely that Paladin would seek to dispose of its Pacific Mines shares as part of the demerger process.

(c) Supreme Court Action

Paladin intends to act in accordance with all requirements of the Corporations Act, Listing Rules and ASX Corporate Governance Council's Principles of Good Corporate Governance and Best Practice Recommendations and other legal requirements in relation to the Supreme Court Action.

Either as part of the review referred to above or the day to day management of the company, it is likely to become necessary for the Board to consider its ongoing approach to the Supreme Court Action (see section 12.3 for further details). In order to address the corporate governance and related party issues that may arise in that circumstance, and to recognise and ensure that the interests of minority shareholders are protected, Paladin intends to propose to the Board that a committee of independent directors (being members of the Board other than Paladin directors or employees, whether they be existing or newly appointed members of the Board) be established to monitor and control the litigation. Paladin would propose that the independent committee be appropriately resourced and fully mandated to seek its own independent legal advice in relation to the Supreme Court Action. As such, the independent committee would be free from any restriction or review by Paladin's directors and employees. In addition, arrangements would be established to ensure the matters considered by and decisions of the independent committee remained confidential and were not disclosed to Paladin's directors or employees. If disclosure of confidential information relating to the Supreme Court Act is required to Paladin's directors or employees (for example, for fulfilment of their duties as Summit directors), appropriate restrictions on their on-disclosure of that information will be agreed.

Other than the requirement for independence, Paladin has no present intention as to the proposed membership of the committee, which would need to be determined at the appropriate time having regard to the availability of directors and their willingness and capability to serve as members of the committee.

The establishment of the independent committee will be without limitation to the operation of the related party provisions of the Corporations Act and Listing Rules. Those provisions may, for example, require Summit shareholders (other than Paladin) to approve any settlement proposal.

(d) Dividends and funding

No dividends have been paid by Summit to date.

Paladin's view is that, given the early stage of development of nearly all of Summit's assets, it is unlikely that Summit will pay dividends in the short or medium term.

In the event that Summit requires additional funding, Paladin will, through its nominees on the Board, support the most appropriate form of such funding, having regard to the interests of all shareholders. If the Board determines that additional equity is required, Paladin's current intention would be (subject to appropriate arms-length terms being agreed) to support and participate in such equity raising. Paladin expects that additional equity will be required from time to time, in order to support the further development of Summit's assets. Paladin will also consider the provision of other forms of funding to Summit if requested by Summit, subject to assessment against its usual investment criteria.

(e) Limitations in giving effect to intentions

The ability of Paladin to implement the intentions set out in this section 7.4 will be subject to the legal obligations of Summit directors to have regard to the interests of Summit and all Summit shareholders, and the requirements of the Corporations Act and the Listing Rules relating to transactions between related parties. Paladin will only make a decision on the above mentioned courses of action following legal and financial advice in relation to those requirements.

7.5 Intentions if Paladin does not control Summit

The Offer is not subject to a minimum acceptance condition. Therefore, it is possible that Paladin will acquire Summit Shares either under the Offer or otherwise, but at the end of the Offer Period, will not be in a position to control or exert significant influence over Summit.

7 Paladin's intentions in relation to Summit

In this circumstance, Paladin intends to hold the Summit Shares it acquires as a portfolio investment. As such, if at any time the Summit Shares held by Paladin do not achieve an appropriate portfolio return, and Paladin forms the view that continuing to hold those Summit Shares is not in the best interests of Paladin shareholders, it may dispose of those Summit Shares in any manner it sees fit.

Further, depending on the level of its shareholding, Paladin may also seek the appointment of a representative to the Board. This representative is likely to be a member of the Paladin management team.

Paladin will assess its support (or otherwise) for Summit and its management on an ongoing basis and will vote its Summit Shares on any corporate proposals accordingly.

7.6 Other intentions

Subject to the matters described above in this section 7 and elsewhere in this Bidder's Statement and, in particular, the completion of the review of Summit's operations referred to in section 7.3(b), it is the intention of Paladin, on the basis of the facts and information concerning Summit that are known to it and the existing circumstances affecting the assets and operations of Summit at the date of this Bidder's Statement, that:

- the business of Summit will be conducted in the same manner as at the date of this Bidder's Statement;
- there will be no redeployment of the fixed assets of Summit; and
- the present employees of Summit will continue to be employed by Summit.

8 Effect of the Offer on Paladin

8.1 Introduction

This section 8.1 provides an overview of the unaudited pro-forma financial position of Paladin as at 31 December 2006 to show the effect of the following discrete events:

- 15% ownership of Summit with no control;
- 30% ownership of Summit with significant influence as defined in AASB 128 "Investments in Associates";
- 50.1% ownership of Summit with full control and external minority interest; and
- 100% ownership of Summit.

For the purposes of preparing the unaudited pro-forma balance sheets as at 31 December 2006 set out in section 8.2 (Pro Forma Balance Sheets), it has been assumed that the ownership interests in each of the scenarios is achieved on one day, that is, there are no staged acquisitions.

The Pro Forma Balance Sheets have been prepared in accordance with the measurement and recognition principals of the Australian equivalents to International Financial Reporting Standards (AIFRS).

The Pro Forma Balance Sheets have not been audited and may be subject to changes arising from an audit process if an audit was performed on them.

8.3 Basis of preparation of the Pro Forma Balance Sheets

For the purposes of preparing the Pro Forma Balance Sheets, Paladin has utilised the audited balance sheet of Summit as at 30 June 2006 extracted from the financial statements contained in the 2006 annual report of Summit. The financial statements have been audited by Rothsay Chartered Accountants in accordance with Australian Auditing Standards and an unqualified audit opinion was signed on 28 September 2006.

Paladin has utilised its 31 December 2006 Second Quarter and Half Year Report as lodged with ASX on 9 February 2007.

Paladin uses a US dollar presentation currency. Accordingly the balance sheet of Summit has been translated from Australian dollars to US dollars based on the assumptions set out in section 8.4 below.

Acquisition accounting entries have been made, consistent with the terms of the Offer and the assumptions set out in section 8.4 below, in order to arrive at an unaudited pro forma consolidated balance sheet of Paladin (in the case of 15% and 30% ownership) or the Merged Entity (in the case of 50.1% and 100% ownership) as at 31 December 2006.

The directors of Paladin will undertake a comprehensive assessment of the fair value of the assets and liabilities acquired after the transaction has been completed.

The Pro Forma Balance Sheets are indicative only. The Paladin directors have drawn their conclusions based on the known facts and other information publicly available as at the date of this Bidder's Statement. If the facts, circumstances, assumptions or other information should prove different to that described, the conclusions may change accordingly.

All adjustments have been made in accordance with Australian Accounting Standards.

8.4 Adjustments and assumptions used in preparing the Pro Forma Balance Sheets

The following adjustments and assumptions have been made in the preparation of the Pro Forma Balance Sheets as set out in section 8.2 above:

Paladin's Ownership Interest in Summit

The following accrual adjustments were made to the 31 December 2006 pro-forma balance sheet: • Depreciation for the half year of US$33k based on an average depreciation rate of 6%, being the average of the quoted depreciation rates in Summit’s accounting policy note, and assuming new acquisitions were made in the middle of the period. • Adjustment to maintain working capital at 30 June 2006 levels on the assumption that the level of business activity has remained consistent to 31 December 2006. • Calculation of GST on the transactions during the period. These adjustments have been made based on publicly available information and may not be an exhaustive list of the adjustments required at 31 December 2006.

Notes: 1. Summit is required to lodge its half yearly report for the half year ended 31 December 2006 (including its balance sheet as at that date) on or before 16 March 2007. Copies of the half yearly report will be available from the ASX website. Summit Shareholders should note that the actual balance sheet of Summit as at 31 December 2006 is likely to differ from the Summit stand alone balance sheet contained in the Pro Forma Balance Sheets. Summit Shareholders should read the Pro Forma Balance Sheets together with Summit's half yearly report, once available. 2. An exchange rate of 1.26279 has been used to convert the Australian dollar issue price to US dollars at 26 February 2007.

8.5 Impact of the delineation between exploration and evaluation expenditure, intangible assets and goodwill

For the purpose of preparing the Pro Forma Balance Sheets the excess of consideration over the net fair value of the assets acquired has been allocated to the exploration and evaluation asset.

The Paladin directors will perform a comprehensive fair value assessment at the completion of the transaction at which point they will be able to measure and allocate the fair values appropriately. The final delineation between the exploration and evaluation expenditure, any identifiable intangible assets and any goodwill will be important. Each class of asset will have a different impact at the time of acquisition and going forward on the balance sheet and income statement of the Merged Entity. In particular:

- any goodwill would not be amortised, but will be subject to annual impairment testing;
- any acquired intangibles may have a short to medium useful life and must be amortised over those periods;
- exploration and evaluation expenditure, assuming it leads to future production would be amortised over the life of reserves. If information becomes available to indicate that the carrying value of capitalised exploration and evaluation expenditure exceeds its recoverable amount an impairment loss is recognised immediately;
- deferred taxes arising in relation to intangible assets would be recognised, but cannot be recognised in relation to goodwill;
- an impairment loss attributable to a cash generating unit is firstly allocated to goodwill and then any other assets (including intangible assets) on a pro-rata basis; and
- any impairment losses can be reversed for intangible assets but not for goodwill.

8.6 Non-current assets held for sale

The directors of Paladin have not currently formed any intention in relation to the non-uranium assets of Summit, and will not do so until the completion of a detailed review subsequent to the transaction. However, as Paladin's primary expertise is in the area of uranium exploration, mining and development, the directors may decide to subsequently dispose of the non-uranium assets. Notwithstanding any future decisions, for the basis of the Pro Forma Balance Sheets, no portion of the exploration and evaluation expenditure has been classified as a non-current asset held for sale.

Under the requirements of AIFRS, an asset would be classified as a non-current asset held for sale if the asset is available for immediate sale and its sale is highly probable. Notwithstanding any future decisions by the directors of Paladin, as at 31 December 2006, these criteria are unlikely to be met and therefore for the basis of the Pro Forma Balance Sheets no portion of the exploration and evaluation expenditure has been classified as a non-current asset held for sale.

8.7 Tax base of exploration and evaluation expenditure

Once the Paladin directors have had an opportunity to perform a detailed tax review of the individual tenements and any mining information acquired their assessment of the tax base may change.

8.8 Paladin Share price at acquisition date

Under the requirements of AIFRS, the cost of a business combination is measured at the date of acquisition if the business combination is achieved in a single exchange transaction or at each exchange date if control is gained in a staged process. For the purpose of the Pro Forma Balance Sheets, Paladin has assumed a single "fixed" price of Paladin Shares. However, this is likely to change between the date of the Bidder's Statement and the final acquisition date or exchange dates, which will impact on the final acquisition accounting.

8.9 US dollar presentation currency

Paladin has adopted a US dollar presentation currency. Accordingly, Summit's financial statements have been translated to US dollars in order to prepare the Pro Forma Balance Sheets.

Under the requirements of AASB 121 "The Effects of Changes in Foreign Exchange Rates", assets and liabilities must be translated at the closing rate at the date of that balance sheet, the income and expenses must be translated at exchange rates at the dates of the transactions and all resulting exchange differences must be recognised as a separate component of equity.

For the purpose of preparing the Pro Forma Balance Sheets a closing rate of 1.26846 has been used to translate the entire Summit balance sheet from A$ to US dollars at 31 December 2006. Given the information available, it has not been possible to assess the appropriate historic rate to be used for the translation of the retained earnings. On the completion of the transaction, the directors will undertake a detailed review of the retained earnings in order to determine the appropriate rate.

9 Risk Factors

9.1 Introduction

If the Offer becomes unconditional, Summit shareholders who accept the Offer will become Paladin shareholders, and Paladin will acquire an interest in Summit. In that event, Summit shareholders will:

- continue to be indirectly exposed to the risks associated with having an interest in Summit's assets and to general and exploration and mining industry risks;
- be exposed to some risks which are specific to Paladin and its current operations; and
- also be exposed to additional risks relating to the Offer and the Merged Entity.

These risks are explained in greater detail below.

9.2 General and exploration and mining industry risks

There are numerous widespread risks associated with investing in any form of business and with investing in the share market generally. There is also a range of specific risks associated with the exploration and mining industry. These risk factors are largely beyond the control of Paladin and its directors because of the nature and location of the existing and proposed business activities of Paladin.

The following summary, which is not exhaustive, represents some of the major risk factors for Paladin.

(a) Economic conditions

Economic conditions, both domestic and global, may affect the performance of Paladin.

Adverse changes in such things as global and country-by-country economic growth, the level of inflation, interest rates, exchange rates, government policy (including fiscal, monetary and regulatory policies), general consumption and consumer spending, employment rates and industrial disruption, amongst others, are outside the control of Paladin and may result in material adverse impacts on the business and its operating results.

(b) Share market conditions

As Paladin is listed on the ASX and TSX, its share price is subject to the numerous influences that may affect both the trends in the share market and the share prices of individual companies, including movements in international and local stock markets, changes in the outlook for commodities and, more specifically, uranium, inflation, interest rates, general economic conditions, changes in government, fiscal, monetary and regulatory policies. In the future, these factors may cause Paladin Shares to trade below current prices and may affect the income and expenses of Paladin.

(c) General legal and taxation matters

Future earnings, asset values, and the relative attractiveness of Paladin Shares may be affected by changes in law and government policy in the jurisdictions in which the Merged Entity will operate, in particular changes to taxation laws (including stamp duty and GST).

In addition, accepting the Offer may involve tax considerations that may differ for each Summit shareholder. Each Summit shareholder is encouraged to seek professional tax advice in connection with accepting the Offer (see also section 10 in respect of Australian tax considerations and section 11 in respect of New Zealand tax considerations).

(d) Speculative nature of mineral exploration and development

Development of Paladin's mineral exploration properties is contingent upon obtaining satisfactory exploration results. Mineral exploration and development involves substantial expenses and a high degree of risk, which even a combination of experience, knowledge and careful evaluation may not be able to adequately mitigate.

The degree of risk increases substantially when a company's properties are in the exploration as opposed to the development phase. There is no assurance that commercial quantities of ore will be discovered on any of Paladin's exploration properties. There is also no assurance that, even if commercial quantities of ore are discovered, a mineral property will be brought into commercial production. The discovery of mineral deposits is dependent upon a number of factors not the least of which is the technical skill of the exploration personnel involved. The commercial viability of a mineral deposit, once discovered, is also dependent upon a number of factors, some of which are the particular attributes of the deposit, such as size, grade and proximity to infrastructure, metal prices and government regulations, including regulations relating to royalties, allowable production, importing and exporting minerals, and environmental protection. In addition, assuming discovery of a commercial ore-body, depending on the type of mining operation involved, several years can elapse from the initial phase of drilling until commercial operations are commenced. Most of the above factors are beyond the control of Paladin.

(e) Mineral resources and ore reserves

No assurance can be given that the anticipated tonnages and grades of ore will be achieved during production or that the indicated level of uranium recovery will be realised. Uranium price fluctuations, as well as increased production costs or reduced recovery rates, may render ore reserves containing relatively lower grades uneconomic and may ultimately result in a restatement of such ore reserves. Moreover, short-term operating factors relating to ore reserves, such as the need for sequential development of ore bodies and the processing of new or different ore types or grades may cause a mining operation to be unprofitable in any particular accounting period.

(f) Uncertainty relating to inferred mineral resources

Inferred mineral resources that are not mineral reserves do not have demonstrated economic viability. Due to the uncertainty which may attach to inferred mineral resources, there is no assurance that inferred mineral resources will be upgraded to measured or indicated resources or proven or probable mineral reserves as a result of continued exploration.

(g) Government regulations

Paladin's activities are subject to extensive laws and regulations controlling not only the mining of and exploration for mineral properties, but also the possible effects of such activities upon the environment and upon interests of native and/or indigenous peoples. Permits from a variety of regulatory authorities are required for many aspects of mine operation and reclamation. Future legislation and regulations could cause additional expense, capital expenditures, restrictions and delays in the development of Paladin's properties, the extent of which cannot be predicted.

In the context of environmental permitting, including the approval of reclamation plans, Paladin must comply with known standards, existing laws and regulations which may entail greater or lesser costs and delays depending on the nature of the activity to be permitted and how stringently the regulations are implemented by the permitting authority. Environmental legislation is evolving in a manner which will require stricter standards and enforcement, increased fines and penalties for non-compliance, more stringent environmental assessments of proposed projects and a heightened degree of responsibility for companies and their officers, directors and employees. There is no assurance that future changes in environmental regulation, if any, will not adversely affect Paladin's operations.

While it is possible that costs and delays associated with compliance with such laws, regulations and permits could become such that Paladin will not proceed with the development or operation of a mine, Paladin is not aware of any material environmental constraint affecting its proposed mining activities or exploration properties that would preclude the economic development or operation of any specific mine or property.

In the context of interests of native and/or indigenous peoples in Australia, the Native Title Act 1993 recognises and protects the rights and interests in Australia of Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander people in land and waters, according to their traditional laws and customs. The risks arising because of native title and aboriginal land rights may affect Paladin's ability to gain access to prospective exploration areas to obtain production titles. Compensatory obligations may be necessary in settling native title claims lodged over any of the tenements held or acquired by Paladin. The level of impact of these matters will depend, in part, on the location and status of Paladin's tenements.

(h) Foreign operations

Paladin's operations in Namibia and Malawi are exposed to various levels of political, economic and other risks and uncertainties associated with operating in a foreign jurisdiction. These risks and uncertainties vary from country to country and include, but are not limited to, currency exchange rates, high rates of inflation, labour unrest, renegotiation or nullification of existing concessions, licenses, permits and contracts, changes in taxation policies, restrictions on foreign exchange, changing political conditions and governmental regulations that favour or require the awarding of contracts to local contractors or require foreign contractors to employ citizens of, or purchase supplies from, a particular jurisdiction or otherwise benefit residents of that country or region.

Changes, if any, in mining or investment policies or shifts in political attitude in any of the countries in which it operates may adversely affect Paladin's operations or profitability. Operations may be affected in varying degrees by government regulations with respect to, but not limited to, restrictions on production, price controls, export controls, currency remittance, income taxes, foreign investment, maintenance of claims, environmental legislation, land use, land claims of local people, water use, 'black economic empowerment' or similar policies, employment, contractor selection and mine safety. Failure to comply strictly with applicable laws, regulations and local practices relating to mineral right applications and tenure, could result in loss, reduction or expropriation of entitlements.

The occurrence of these various factors adds uncertainties which cannot be accurately predicted and could have an adverse effect on Paladin's operations or profitability.

(i) Volatility of uranium prices

The mining industry is competitive and there is no assurance that, even if significant quantities of a mineral resource are discovered, a profitable market will exist for the sale of the same. There can be no assurance that uranium prices will be such that Paladin's properties can be mined at a profit. The only significant commercial use for uranium is to fuel civil nuclear power plants for the generation of electricity. Any adverse change in policies or laws concerning nuclear power in countries which operate nuclear power plants may negatively affect Paladin.

Factors beyond the control of Paladin may affect the marketability of any minerals discovered. Uranium prices are subject to volatile price changes from a variety of factors including international economic and political trends, expectations of inflation, global and regional demand, alternative sources to meet energy consumption, currency exchange fluctuations, interest rates, global or regional consumption patterns, technological improvements leading to more efficient use of uranium, speculative activities and increased production due to improved mining and production methods or increased exploration.

(j) Mineral exploration and mining carry inherent risks

Mining operations are subject to hazards normally encountered in exploration, development and production. These include unexpected geological formations, rock falls, flooding, dam wall failure and other incidents or conditions which could result in damage to plant or equipment or the environment and which could impact production throughput. Although it is intended to take adequate precautions to minimise risk, there is a possibility of a material adverse impact on Paladin's operations and its financial results.

(k) Competition

Significant and increasing competition exists for mineral acquisition opportunities throughout the world. As a result of this competition, some of which is with large, better established mining companies with substantial capabilities and greater financial and technical resources, Paladin may be unable to acquire rights to exploit additional attractive mining properties on terms it considers acceptable. Accordingly, there can be no assurance that Paladin will acquire any interest in additional operations that would yield reserves or result in commercial mining operations.

9.3 Paladin specific risks

(a) Key personnel

Recruiting and retaining qualified personnel is critical to Paladin's success. The number of persons skilled in the acquisition, exploration and development of mining properties is limited and competition for such persons is intense. As Paladin's business activity grows, it will require additional key financial, administrative, mining, marketing, and public relations personnel as well as additional staff on the operations side. Paladin will be required to hire additional personnel in Malawi. Although Paladin believes that it will be successful in attracting and retaining qualified personnel, there can be no assurance of such success.

(b) Labour and employment matters

While Paladin has good relations with its employees, these relations may be impacted by changes in the scheme of labour relations which may be introduced by the relevant country governmental authorities which regulates its operations. Adverse changes in such legislation may have a material adverse effect on Paladin's business.

(c) Subsidiaries

Paladin conducts certain of its operations through subsidiaries and holds certain of its assets in such subsidiaries. Accordingly, any limitation on the transfer of cash or other assets between Paladin and its subsidiaries could restrict Paladin's ability to fund its operations efficiently. Any such limitations, or the perception that such limitations may exist now or in the future, could have an adverse impact on Paladin's valuation and stock price.

(d) Currency risk

Paladin's operations incur expenditures primarily in the local currencies of Australia, South Africa, Namibia and Malawi. Revenue from operations and debt financings will be in US dollars. As a result of these different currencies, Paladin is subject to foreign currency fluctuations which may materially affect its financial position and operating results.

(e) Liquidity and future financings

Further exploration and development of the various mineral properties in which Paladin holds interests depend upon Paladin's ability to obtain financing through operational cash flows, joint ventures, debt financing, equity financing or other means. There is no assurance that Paladin will be successful in obtaining the financing required as and when needed. Volatile markets for mineral commodities may make it difficult or impossible for Paladin to obtain debt financing or equity financing on favourable terms or at all. Failure to obtain additional financing on a timely basis may cause Paladin to postpone its development plans, forfeit rights in some or all of its properties or joint ventures or reduce or terminate some or all of its operations.

(f) Dilution

Paladin may undertake additional offerings of securities in the future. The increase in the number of shares issued and the possibility of sales of such shares may have a depressive effect on the price of shares already on issue. In addition, as a result of the issue of such additional shares, the voting power of Paladin's existing shareholders may be diluted.

(g) Project specific risk – Langer Heinrich

The Langer Heinrich mine has been commissioned and is presently in the process of ramp up to full capacity. Paladin and its financiers have carefully determined the required timeframe and funding for this project. However, there is risk that the project will take longer than planned to achieve the planned level of uranium oxide production or might require further work. In extreme circumstances, these potential delays or difficulties may necessitate additional funding which could lead to additional equity or debt requirements for the group. Furthermore, scope changes and/or cost overruns may lead to additional funding requirements. The performance of the Langer Heinrich operation is very much dependent on long term average operating costs which may differ from those expected by Paladin.

(h) Project specific risk – Kayelekera

While the BFS for the Kayelekera Project has been delivered, and Paladin has committed to development, work is ongoing to optimise the plant layout and process with a view to reducing capital costs. Although the Paladin board regards the project as economically robust, until this process has been completed, there will remain some uncertainty as to the economics of the project. In addition, the project construction remains at an early stage, and there is a risk that the project will take longer than expected to develop, that capital and/or operating costs will be higher than expected or there will be other unexpected changes in variables upon which the decision to proceed to development was made.

(i) Uranium contracts

Paladin has entered into a number of take-or-pay contracts for offtake of U₃O₈ from Langer Heinrich with large and financially sound customers. These contracts provide Paladin with market prices subject to escalating floor and ceiling prices while allowing Paladin to benefit from some upside should the spot market for U₃O₈ out-perform the ceiling prices. Paladin faces a risk of non-performance on these contracts as well as potential penalties if it fails to meet its obligations in terms of product quality and/or timing of supply.

(j) Political stability

Paladin's activities are principally conducted in Southern Africa. In Southern Africa, Paladin's projects may be subject to the effect of political changes, war and civil conflict, changes in government policy, lack of law enforcement and labour unrest and the creation of new laws. These changes (which may include new or modified taxes or other government levies as well as other legislation) may impact on the profitability and viability of its properties.

In Australia, government policy from time to time may not be favourable to uranium mining and export. To the extent that the capital markets may have placed value on the possibility of a change in State Government policy towards uranium mining, this value may be reduced by events that lead the capital markets to believe these changes are less likely or will be slower to eventuate.

(k) Security of tenure

All tenements in which Paladin has interests are subject to renewal conditions or are yet to be granted, which will be at the discretion of the Federal Ministry and the relevant Ministries in Western Australia, South Australia, Northern Territory, Queensland, Namibia and Malawi. The maintaining of tenements, obtaining renewals, or getting tenements granted, often depends on Paladin being successful in obtaining required statutory approvals for proposed activities. While Paladin anticipates that subsequent renewals will be given as and when sought, there is no assurance that such renewals will be given as a matter of course and there is no assurance that new conditions will not be imposed in connection therewith.

Certain of Paladin's tenements at Manyingee are subject to complaints lodged by third parties. These complaints are applications to the warden under the Mining Act 1978 (WA) for forfeiture of the tenements on the grounds of alleged non-compliance with the expenditure conditions applicable to the tenements. Although there is a risk that, if the complaints are successful, certain of Paladin's tenements at Manyingee may be forfeited, in the Paladin board's view these complaints are unlikely to be successful.

(l) Operating history

Although Paladin has the utmost confidence in its ability, it, like most Australian uranium companies, has no operating history and there can be no assurance of its ability to operate its projects profitably. While Paladin intends to generate working capital through operation of its proposed uranium mines, there is no assurance that Paladin will be capable of producing positive cash flow on a consistent basis or that any such funds will be available for exploration and development programs.

(m) Logistics

Logistical risk relates to long supply lines, and lack of engineering and other support facilities close to Paladin's operating sites. In Africa, the transshipment of uranium concentrate through neighbouring countries for export could be subject to disruptions through political disputes and natural disasters.

(n) Uninsurable risks

Paladin may become subject to liability for accidents, pollution and other hazards against which it cannot insure or against which it may elect not to insure because of premium costs or for other reasons, or in amounts, which exceed policy limits.

(o) Dividend policy

Paladin has paid no dividends on its ordinary shares since its date of incorporation and Paladin does not anticipate paying dividends on its shares in the near future. Paladin anticipates that it will retain future earnings and other cash resources for the future operation and development of its business and Paladin does not intend to declare or pay any cash dividends in the near future. Payment of any future dividends will be at the discretion of Paladin's board of directors after taking into account many factors, including Paladin's operating results, financial condition and current and anticipated cash needs.

9.4 Risks relating to the Offer and the Merged Entity

(a) Issue of Paladin Shares as consideration

Summit shareholders are being offered consideration under the Offer that consists of a specified number of Paladin Shares, rather than a number of Paladin Shares with a specified market value. As a result, the value of the consideration will fluctuate depending upon the market value of the Paladin Shares. For example, Paladin's Share trading range on ASX in the 12 months prior to the Announcement Date has been from a high of A$10.75 to a low of A$3.29.

(b) Increased exposure to changes in State Government uranium mining policy

The Merged Entity will have a greater proportion of its uranium interests in Australia relative to Paladin on a stand-alone basis, although still a lower proportion relative to Summit on a stand-alone basis. As a result, Summit shareholders should expect that the trading prices of the Merged Entity's shares will be affected by changes in State Government uranium mining policy to a greater extent than Paladin Shares in the past. Current and anticipated law and policy in this area is discussed in greater detail in section 12.2.

(c) Potential unavailability of scrip for scrip rollover

The Offer is not subject to a minimum acceptance condition. This means that Summit shareholders who accept the Offer and receive Paladin Shares may, in some circumstances (particularly where Paladin does not acquire 80% of the Summit Shares under the Offer) have a CGT liability, but will not be able to claim scrip for scrip rollover relief. The Australian and New Zealand taxation implications of accepting the Offer are discussed in greater detail in sections 10 and 11 respectively.

10 Australian tax considerations

10.1 Introduction

The following is a general description of the Australian taxation consequences for Summit shareholders of the acceptance of the Offer.

The following description is based upon the Australian law and administrative practice in effect at the date of this Bidder's Statement, but it is general in nature and is not intended to be an authoritative or complete statement of the laws applicable to the particular circumstances of every Summit shareholder.

This section does not constitute taxation advice and Summit shareholders should seek independent taxation advice in relation to their own particular circumstances.

Summit shareholders who are not resident in Australia for tax purposes should take into account the tax consequences under the laws of their country of residence, as well as under Australian law, of acceptance of the Offer.

The following summary is intended only for Australian resident Summit shareholders.

10.2 Australian resident shareholders

The Australian taxation consequences of the Offer will depend upon a number of factors, including:

- your tax residency status;
- whether you hold Your Summit Shares on capital account, revenue account or as trading stock; and
- whether scrip for scrip roll-over relief is available.

If you have any questions about the taxation aspects of holding or disposing Summit Shares then you should seek specific advice from a professional taxation adviser before making a decision whether or not to accept the Offer.

(a) Summit Shares held on capital account

If you hold Summit Shares as a passive investment with the intention of generating dividend income and long term capital growth, you may be considered to hold Your Summit Shares on capital account for taxation purposes.

Acceptance of the Offer will involve the disposal of Your Summit Shares by way of transfer to Paladin. This change in the ownership of the Summit Shares will constitute a CGT event for Australian capital gains tax purposes.

You will make a capital gain if the market value of the Paladin Shares received, calculated at the time the Offer is accepted, exceeds the cost base of the Summit Shares.

For CGT purposes, the cost base of the Summit Shares would generally include the amount paid to acquire those Summit Shares plus any incidental costs of acquisition (for example, brokerage fees and stamp duty).

You will make a capital loss if the capital proceeds received are less than the reduced cost base of the Summit Shares. A capital loss may be used to offset capital gains derived in the same or subsequent years of income. A capital loss cannot be offset against ordinary income.

If you are an individual, trust or complying superannuation fund that has held the Summit Shares for twelve months or longer at the time of your acceptance of the Offer, the capital gain derived will be a discount capital gain so that only half of the gain for an individual or trust, or two-thirds of the gain for a complying superannuation fund, is included in assessable income.

If you are a company or have not held the Summit Shares for at least 12 months at the date of acceptance of the Offer, then you are not eligible to claim a discount on the capital gain.

If you make a capital gain as a result of accepting this Offer and the other conditions of scrip for scrip rollover are satisfied (refer below), you may be eligible for tax relief upon the disposal of Your Summit Shares under the scrip for scrip rollover relief provisions.

Scrip for scrip rollover relief

Scrip for scrip rollover relief enables a shareholder to elect to disregard the capital gain they make from a share that is disposed of as part of a corporate takeover or merger if the shareholder receives in exchange a replacement share.

Scrip for scrip rollover will only be available if Paladin increases its shareholding in Summit to at least 80% under the Offer.

The effect of a shareholder choosing to claim rollover relief will be that the capital gain that would otherwise arise to the shareholder from the disposal of their Summit Shares will be disregarded.

If scrip for scrip rollover relief is elected, the cost base of the Paladin Shares that you receive is based upon the cost base of Your Summit Shares. You will be taken to have acquired the Paladin Shares at the time the Summit Shares were acquired for CGT purposes.

Scrip for scrip rollover is not available if you would realise a capital loss on acceptance of the Offer.

Where scrip for scrip rollover relief is not claimed or is not available in relation to the disposal of Summit Shares

Where scrip for scrip rollover relief is not claimed or is not available in relation to the disposal of the Summit Shares, you will make either a capital gain or capital loss equal to the difference between the cost base of Your Summit Shares and the market value of the Paladin Share you receive under the Offer.

(b) Summit Shares held on revenue account

If you acquired Your Summit Shares with the main purpose of reselling them at a profit (for example if you are a bank or insurance company) you may be considered to hold Your Summit Shares on revenue account for tax purposes.

Where this is the case, any gain or loss realised on disposal of Your Summit Shares will be assessable as ordinary income or claimed as a revenue deduction. The gain or loss will be calculated as the difference between the value of the consideration, being the Paladin Shares received on disposal, and the cost of acquiring the Summit Shares.

In these circumstances scrip for scrip rollover relief will not be available.

(c) Summit Shares held as Trading Stock

If you are engaged in the business of share trading, where you regularly buy and sell shares with a view to making profits in the ordinary course of carrying on a business of share trading, you may be holding Your Summit Shares as trading stock.

If you hold Your Summit Shares as trading stock, scrip for scrip rollover relief will not be available on acceptance of this Offer. The market value of the Paladin Share you receive from accepting this Offer will be included in your assessable income.

10.3 Taxation implications of holding Paladin Shares

As a consequence of accepting the Offer, shareholders will cease to be shareholders of Summit and will become shareholders of Paladin. Dividends received by Australian resident shareholders of Paladin would generally be required to be included in the assessable income of such shareholders.

(a) Subsequent disposal of Paladin Shares held on revenue account

A shareholder holding their Paladin Shares on revenue account will be required to treat any gain or loss arising on a subsequent disposal of their Paladin Shares as assessable or deductible, respectively.

(b) CGT on subsequent disposal of Paladin Shares

The subsequent disposal of Paladin Shares by Australian resident shareholders will generally result in Australian CGT implications.

These will differ depending upon whether or not scrip for scrip rollover relief was claimed in relation to the disposal of Summit Shares pursuant to the Offer.

Where scrip for scrip rollover relief is not claimed or is not available in relation to the disposal of Summit Shares

Where scrip for scrip rollover relief is not claimed or is not available in relation to the disposal of the Summit Shares, the cost base of each Paladin Share would include the market value of the Summit Shares disposed of under the Offer at the time of exchange.

If you are an individual, trust or complying superannuation fund that has held Paladin Shares for twelve months or longer at the time of the subsequent disposal, the capital gain derived will be a discount capital gain so that only half of the gain for an individual or trust, or two-thirds of the gain for a complying superannuation fund, is included in the shareholder's assessable income.

If you are a company or have held the Paladin Shares for less than 12 months, then you will not be eligible to claim the discount on the capital gain.

Where scrip for scrip rollover relief is claimed in relation to the disposal of Summit Shares

Where scrip for scrip rollover relief was claimed in relation to the disposal of Summit Shares, the cost base of the Paladin Shares is adopted from the original cost base of the Summit Shares disposed of under the Offer.

A shareholder will be taken to have acquired the Paladin Shares at the time the Summit Shares were acquired for CGT purposes. Consequently, shareholders will be entitled to add together the ownership periods for both the Summit and Paladin Shares to determine whether the 12 month ownership requirement is satisfied for the discount capital gain rules, or in applying indexation. If you have any questions about the financial or taxation aspects of holding or selling Paladin Shares, you should seek your own independent advice from a professional advisor before making a decision whether or not to accept the Offer.

10.4 Shareholders who are non-Australian resident

The following is a general statement of the Australian taxation outcomes for shareholders who are not Australian resident based on the law applicable at the date of this Bidder's Statement.

If you are a non-Australian resident shareholder you should seek taxation advice from an independent professional adviser regarding the taxation consequences in Australia and in your country of residence of accepting the Offer.

10 Australian tax considerations

Disposal of Summit Shares held on capital account

Generally, if you are non-Australian resident shareholder and hold Your Summit Shares on capital account you will not be subject to CGT on the disposal of Your Summit Shares unless:

- you (and your associates) owned at least 10% of Summit either at the time you sold Your Summit Shares or for at least 12 months during the 24 months before you sold Your Summit Shares; and
- 50% or more of the value of Summit is represented by real property in Australia.

Your Summit Shares will also be taxable if you used Your Summit Shares in carrying on a business through a permanent establishment in Australia.

At the date of this Bidder's Statement, there are no non-Australian resident shareholders who own 10% or more of the issued capital in Summit.

Disposal of Summit Shares on revenue account

If you are a non-resident of Australia and hold Your Summit Shares on revenue account or as trading stock, you may be assessed in Australia on any gain or profit on the disposal of these shares. The taxation consequences will depend upon the provisions of any relevant tax treaty between your country of residence and Australia.

10.5 Foreign Shareholders

If you are a Foreign Shareholder and accept this Offer you will not be entitled to receive Paladin Shares in exchange for Your Summit Shares. As set out in sections 12.5 and 13.7 of this Bidder's Statement, the nominee will arrange for the Paladin Shares that are exchanged for Your Summit Shares to be sold. You will receive the proceeds of sale (less brokerage and sale expenses) of the Paladin Shares calculated in accordance with the formula in section 13.7.

The taxation consequences of receiving cash instead of Paladin Shares will generally be the same as if you received the Paladin Shares directly and immediately sold them.

10.6 Goods and services tax

Holders of Summit Shares should not be liable to GST in respect of a disposal of those shares.

11 New Zealand tax considerations

11.1 Introduction

The following is a general description of the New Zealand taxation consequences for Summit shareholders of the acceptance of the Offer.

The following description is based upon the New Zealand law and administrative practice in effect at the date of this Bidder's Statement, but it is general in nature and is not intended to be an authoritative or complete statement of the laws applicable to the particular circumstances of every Summit shareholder.

This section does not constitute taxation advice and Summit shareholders should seek independent taxation advice in relation to their own particular circumstances.

Summit shareholders who are not resident in New Zealand for tax purposes should take into account the tax consequences under the laws of their country of residence, as well as under New Zealand law, of acceptance of the Offer.

The following summary is intended only for New Zealand resident Summit shareholders.

11.2 New Zealand resident shareholders

The New Zealand taxation consequences of the Offer for a Summit shareholder who is resident in New Zealand will depend upon whether you hold Your Summit Shares on capital account or on revenue account.

If you have any questions about the taxation aspects of holding or disposing Summit Shares then you should seek specific advice from a professional taxation adviser before making a decision whether or not to accept the Offer.

(a) Summit Shares held on capital account

If you do not deal or trade in share investments, do not carry on a business of buying and selling investments, did not acquire Your Summit Shares with the dominant purpose of disposal and do not sell Your Summit Shares as part of a profit making undertaking or scheme, you may be considered to hold Your Summit Shares on capital account for taxation purposes. Accordingly, your acceptance of the Offer will result in your either deriving a capital gain that is not assessable for New Zealand income tax purposes or incurring a capital loss that is not deductible for New Zealand income tax purposes.

(b) Summit Shares held on revenue account

If you deal or trade in share investments, carry on a business of buying and selling investments, acquired Your Summit Shares with the dominant purpose of disposal, or sell Your Summit Shares as part of a profit making undertaking or scheme, you may be considered to hold Your Summit Shares on revenue account for taxation purposes. Accordingly, your acceptance of the Offer will result in your either deriving a gain that is assessable for New Zealand income tax purposes or incurring a loss that might be deductible for New Zealand income tax purposes.

11.3 Taxation implications of holding Paladin Shares

As a consequence of accepting the Offer, assuming the Offer becomes or is declared unconditional, shareholders will cease to be shareholders of Summit and will become shareholders of Paladin.

(a) Dividends

Dividends received by New Zealand resident shareholders of Paladin would generally be required to be included in the assessable income of such shareholders. If any Australian withholding taxes are deducted, the recipient shareholder may be able to claim a foreign tax credit. No credit will be able to be claimed in respect of Australian franking credits (if any) attached to the dividends.

11 New Zealand tax considerations

(b) Foreign Investment Fund Rules

The Paladin Shares are not subject to the current Foreign Investment Fund (FIF Rules) because the shares are in a company resident in Australia. The Paladin Shares will not be subject to the new FIF Rules that come into force on 1 April 2007 (as a result of the enactment of the Taxation (Savings Investment and Miscellaneous Provisions) Act 2006) because Paladin is a company resident in Australia (and is not treated as resident in any other country), its shares are included in an index that is an approved index under the ASX Market Rules (made under Chapter 7 of the Corporations Act 2001 (Aust)), is not an entity referred to in Schedule 4 of the Income Tax Act 2004 (NZ), and is required by Australian tax law to maintain a franking account.

(c) Subsequent disposal of Paladin Shares

A shareholder holding their Paladin Shares on revenue account will be required to treat any gain or loss arising on a subsequent disposal of their Paladin Shares as assessable or deductible, respectively, for New Zealand income tax purposes.

A shareholder holding their Paladin Shares on capital account will not be assessable on any gain arising on a subsequent disposal of their Paladin Shares, or will not be able to deduct any loss arising, for New Zealand income tax purposes.

11.4 New Zealand goods and services tax

Holders of Summit Shares will not be liable to any New Zealand Goods and Services Tax in respect of a disposal of those shares.

12 Other material information

12.1 Foreign Investment Review Board approval

Paladin is a foreign person under the Foreign Acquisitions and Takeovers Act 1975 (Cth) (FATA) as a result of persons not ordinarily resident in Australia and foreign corporations holding an aggregate controlling interest (40%) in Paladin.

Accordingly, the potential acquisition by Paladin of more than 15% of the Summit Shares under the Offer required notification to the Foreign Investment Review Board (FIRB) under the FATA. Notification to FIRB was given on 12 January 2007 and on 12 February 2007 the Commonwealth Treasurer informed Paladin that there was no objection to that acquisition in terms of the Commonwealth Government's foreign investment policy.

12.2 State Government uranium mining policy

In 1996, the newly elected Commonwealth Liberal-National Coalition Government abolished the so-called "no new mines" policy of the outgoing Australian Labor Party, which employed Commonwealth powers over export licences to limit uranium mining to the two then-existing mines (Ranger in the Northern Territory and Olympic Dam in South Australia). The Labor Party's firm opposition to increased uranium mining had halted the development of several new uranium mines during the period 1983 to 1996.

Generally speaking, the power to grant exploration and mining licences in Australia, including those relating to radioactive ores and concentrates (which include uranium) is exercised by the relevant State Government under state mining legislation. However, the Commonwealth Government has legal control of uranium mining in the Northern Territory, while delegating aspects of its day to day administration to the Northern Territory Government.

The current Commonwealth Government has sought to develop and expand Australia's uranium industry by allowing mining and export of uranium, subject to strict provisions to safeguard the environment and prevent the uranium from being used for weapons development. It recently commissioned a comprehensive review of uranium mining, value-added processing and the longer term contribution of nuclear energy in Australia. The final report, known as the Review of Uranium Mining Processing and Nuclear Energy in Australia (the Switkowski Report), was released in early January 2007.

The Switkowski Report concludes generally that nuclear power is a mature, safe and clean means of generating baseload electricity and that nuclear power is a practical option that Australia would need to seriously consider to meet the growing demand for energy and to reduce greenhouse gas emissions. On the issue of uranium mining, the Switkowski Report concludes that Australia has the capacity to expand its production and exports of uranium and global growth in uranium provides a timely opportunity for Australia. However, the Switkowski Report also identifies a number of barriers to uranium mining that currently exist, including overlapping Commonwealth and State regulations, high capital costs, sensitivity to delays and uncertainty in obtaining approvals, restrictive policies in relation to land access and transport, and a shortage in skills and radiation safety professionals.

In conformity with Australian Labour Party national policy, the governments of Western Australia and Queensland currently have a policy stance against the development of uranium mines. The South Australian Government officially does not permit the development of new mines (although recently the Honeymoon mine was approved, which will increase the number of operating uranium mines in South Australia to three).

The Australian Labor Party's position on uranium mining is likely to be on the agenda at its 2007 National Conference, which is scheduled to be held in April 2007. The recently-elected leader of the Federal Labor Opposition, Mr Kevin Rudd, has indicated that although Labor is opposed to the construction of nuclear reactors in Australia, he will seek support for a change in the "no new mines" uranium policy at that time. However, even if this policy is changed at a national level, it will be up to individual states (all of which are governed by Labor) and territories to implement the new policy, should they chose to do so, in their jurisdictions.

12 Other material information

In this regard, Mr Rudd has stated that a Labor Commonwealth Government would not seek to employ Commonwealth powers to force individual states to permit uranium mining, because land management is a matter of state jurisdiction. Nonetheless, and despite the fact that the Queensland Government presently does not permit uranium mining, the Queensland Premier, Mr Peter Beattie, has indicated that he intends that the Queensland Government abide by whatever decision comes out of the Labor Party National Conference.

12.3 Supreme Court Action

(a) Overview

In the Supreme Court Action, Summit Resources (Aust) alleges that there has been a material breach of the Mt Isa Agreement.

The original parties to the Mt Isa Agreement were Resolute Limited and Summit Resources (Aust). In December 2005, Resolute Limited assigned its interest in the Mt Isa Agreement to a related entity, namely Mt Isa, a wholly owned subsidiary of Valhalla in which, at that time, Resolute Limited's holding company, Resolute, held 83.3% of the issued shares.

Valhalla issued a prospectus on 7 November 2005 in connection with an initial public offering of shares and listing on ASX.

Under the Mt Isa Agreement, if there has been a material breach, and the breach has not been remedied within the period specified by a default notice, then the non-defaulting party (ie in this case, alleged to be Summit Resources (Aust)) has the option of acquiring the joint venture interest of the defaulting party (ie in this case, alleged to be Mt Isa) at 85% of the market value of that joint venture interest, as assessed by an independent expert.

Summit Resources (Aust) has issued the relevant default notice and has sought a declaration in the Supreme Court Action that it is entitled to acquire Mt Isa's joint venture interest at 85% of market value.

(b) Allegations

The material breaches alleged by Summit Resources (Aust) in its statement of claim are, in general terms:

- that Resolute and/or Mt Isa disclosed to Valhalla, which Valhalla in turn disclosed, in its prospectus:
 - (1) certain terms of the Mt Isa Agreement; and/or
 - (2) certain technical information in relation to the joint venture

(Confidential Information) in breach of the confidentiality obligations under the Mt Isa Agreement;

- that Mt Isa and/or Resolute Limited disclosed the Confidential Information to Paladin in order to facilitate Paladin's takeover of Valhalla (and thereby Paladin taking control of Mt Isa's 50% interest in the Mt Isa JV); and
- that Mt Isa disclosed the Confidential Information (or possibly, only the terms of the Mt Isa Agreement) to advisors to Paladin, as part of its takeover of Valhalla.

(c) Defences

In their defences, Mt Isa and Resolute Limited assert that (among other things):

- (1) the technical information which it is alleged has been disclosed in breach of the Mt Isa Agreement was, in fact, already in the public domain because it had been disclosed by Summit, and therefore no confidentiality attached to it;
- (2) the relevant terms of the Mt Isa Agreement are not, as a matter of law, confidential information;

- (3) even if the relevant terms of the Mt Isa Agreement are confidential, those terms were in the public domain by reason of disclosure by Valhalla pursuant to certain 'carve outs' from the confidentiality obligations under the Mt Isa Agreement, namely:
- (A) the disclosure of the terms of the Mt Isa Agreement by Resolute Limited and/or Mt Isa to Valhalla was permissible because Valhalla was a 'Related Party' of Resolute Limited;
 - (B) the disclosure by Valhalla in its prospectus was permissible because Valhalla was obliged, at law, to disclose such information; and
 - (C) the Confidential Information disclosed to Paladin (and to its advisors) was either:
 - already in the public domain, by reason of the disclosures referred to above; or
 - only disclosed to Paladin after, and as a consequence of, Paladin (and its advisors) entering into a confidentiality agreement, on the basis that Paladin was a bona fide potential assignee of the joint venture interest (which is also a 'carve out' from the confidentiality obligations under the Mt Isa Agreement); and/or
 - only disclosed to Paladin's advisors after such disclosure had been directed by Mt Isa and the advisors entered into a confidentiality agreement; and
- (4) in any event, Mt Isa has remedied any default by the conditional tender of adequate compensation for any loss suffered by Summit Resources (Aust).

(d) Counterclaim

By way of counterclaim, Mt Isa and Resolute Limited allege that, in fact, Summit Resources (Aust) breached the Mt Isa Agreement by revealing the technical information referred to in section 12.3(b) in breach of the terms of the Mt Isa Agreement.

As a consequence, a declaration is sought that, in such circumstances, Mt Isa is entitled to acquire the joint venture interest of Summit Resources (Aust) at 85% of market value.

(e) Indemnity

Paladin has entered into a deed of indemnity with Resolute pursuant to which Resolute indemnified Paladin against any loss suffered by Paladin (or Mt Isa or Valhalla) as a consequence of, amongst other things, the Supreme Court Action. The loss is deemed to include an amount determined in accordance with a formula based upon the value (as agreed between Paladin and Resolute) provided under Paladin's takeover bid for Valhalla which is attributable to Mt Isa's JV interest.

The indemnity is subject to a cap of $75 million or $50 million, depending on the determined value of Mt Isa joint venture interest.

By reason of the existence of the indemnity, Resolute has primary conduct of the defence of the Supreme Court Action and the pursuit of the counterclaim for both Resolute and Mt Isa.

(f) Status, timing, prospects and implications

The Supreme Court Action is included in the Commercial and Managed Cases List of the Supreme Court of Western Australia. The parties have filed their pleadings and discovery lists and are currently undertaking inspection of discovered documents. Based on the information available as at the date of this Bidder's Statement, Paladin believes it is likely that the matter will not proceed to trial and that judgment will not be delivered for several months.

12 Other material information

Paladin has received legal advice in relation to the merits of the Supreme Court Action. Based on the information available to it as at the date of this Bidder's Statement, including the pleadings, particulars filed and the limited evidence currently available to Paladin, Paladin considers, contrary to the opinion publicly expressed by Summit in its letter to Summit shareholders dated 25 September 2006, that Mt Isa and Resolute are likely to succeed in their defence of the claim by Summit Resources (Aust). Further, in the event that it is determined that the information disclosed by Summit and referred to at section 12.3(c)(1) above is confidential information for the purposes of the Mt Isa Agreement, Paladin considers that there is some prospect that Mt Isa and Resolute will succeed in the counterclaim referred to above.

It should be noted that even if Paladin suffers loss as a result of the Supreme Court Action, it will have rights to indemnification under the deed of indemnity referred to above (subject to the terms and limitations of that deed).

Summit shareholders should note that it is difficult to predict the course, duration or ultimate outcome of litigation, with any certainty. These issues depend on numerous related factors including the availability, admissibility and reliability of evidence, the resolution of uncertain legal arguments and the manner of exercise of discretions by the Court. As a consequence, it is difficult to give certain predictions, in advance, particularly when, as is presently the case, the proceedings are substantially incomplete. Summit shareholders are therefore cautioned not to place undue reliance upon the above stated expectations regarding the Supreme Court Action.

Further details of the Supreme Court Action may also be provided in Summit's Target's Statement.

12.4 Date for determining holders of Summit Shares

For the purposes of section 633 of the Corporations Act, the date for determining the people to whom information is to be sent under items 6 and 12 of section 633(1) is the Register Date.

12.5 Foreign Shareholders

Summit shareholders who are Foreign Shareholders will not be entitled to receive Paladin Shares as consideration for their Summit Shares pursuant to the Offer.

A Summit shareholder is a Foreign Shareholder for the purposes of the Offer if their address as shown in the register of members of Summit is in a jurisdiction other than Australia or its external territories or New Zealand. However, such a person will not be a Foreign Shareholder if Paladin is satisfied that it is not legally or practically constrained from making the Offer to a Summit shareholder in the relevant jurisdiction and to issue Paladin Shares to such a shareholder on acceptance of the Offer, and that it is lawful for the shareholder to accept the Offer in such circumstances in the relevant jurisdiction. Notwithstanding anything else in this Bidder's Statement, Paladin is not under any obligation to spend any money, or undertake any action, in order to satisfy itself concerning any of these matters.

The Paladin Shares which would otherwise have been issued to Foreign Shareholders will instead be issued to a nominee approved by ASIC, who will sell these shares. The net proceeds of the sale of such shares will then be remitted to the relevant Foreign Shareholders. See section 13.7 for further details.

12.6 Compulsory acquisition of later-issued Summit Shares

If Paladin and its associates have relevant interests in at least 90% of the Summit Shares during, or at the end of the Offer Period, Paladin will (if it and its associates have a relevant interest in more than 90% of Summit Shares at the time) give a notice of compulsory acquisition to all holders of outstanding Summit Shares, even if the Summit Shares to which those notices relate are issued:

- after the Offer closes but before the notices are given (pursuant to section 661A(4)(b) of the Corporations Act); or
- on exercise of Summit Options, up to 6 weeks after the notices are given (pursuant to section 661A(4)(c) of the Corporations Act).

12.7 Social security and superannuation implications of Offer

Acceptance of the Offer may have implications under your superannuation arrangements or on your social security entitlements. If in any doubt, you should seek specialist advice.

12.8 Broker handling fee

Paladin is offering to pay a commission to brokers who solicit acceptances of the Offer from their clients

Commission payments will be paid only in respect of parcels of Summit Shares held by retail shareholders who accept the Offer. A retail shareholder for these purposes is one who is not a broker or an associate of a broker and held less than 20,000 Summit Shares at the Announcement Date.

Commission payments will not exceed 0.5% of the value of the consideration payable for parcels of Summit Shares held by retail shareholders who accept the Offer, and will be subject to minimum payments (not exceeding $50) and maximum payments (not exceeding $500) for each acceptance.

Commission will be payable to brokers only and subject to the condition that no part of the fee will be able to be passed on or paid to Summit shareholders.

Paladin reserves its right to aggregate any acceptances in determining the handling fees payable to any broker if it reasonably believes a party has structured holdings to take advantage of the broker handling fee.

It is Paladin's intention that the commission arrangement will remain in place for the Offer Period and the amount of the commission offered will not be increased during the Offer Period.

12.9 Proposed demerger by Summit of Pacific Mines

As noted above, Summit has announced an intention to demerge Pacific Mines through the distribution of Pacific Mines shares to existing Summit shareholders.

If you accept the Offer and Paladin becomes the registered holder of Your Summit Shares before the record date (if any) for entitlement to participate in the distribution of Pacific Mines shares pursuant to Summit's proposed demerger of Pacific Mines, then Paladin will be entitled to receive any distribution of Pacific Mines shares in respect of Your Summit Shares.

If you accept the Offer but the record date for Summit's proposed demerger of Pacific Mines occurs before Paladin becomes the registered holder of Your Summit Shares, you will still be entitled to receive any distribution of Pacific Mines shares in respect of Your Summit Shares and the number of Paladin Shares issued to you will not be decreased.

Company Announcements Office
Australian Stock Exchange Limited
20 Bridge Street
SYDNEY NSW 2000 By Electronic Lodgement

Dear Sir/Madam

Paladin Announces Takeover Offer for Summit Resources Limited

Paladin Resources Ltd (ASX: PDN, TSX: PDN) ("Paladin") is pleased to announce an off-market scrip takeover bid ("Offer") for Australian and New Zealand Stock Exchange-listed exploration company Summit Resources Limited (ASX: SMM, NZSE: SMM) ("Summit").

This announcement follows confirmation last week that Paladin has signed a Development Agreement with the Government of The Republic of Malawi, received Board approval for construction of the Kayelekera Uranium Project and is targeting an annual production profile of 7Mlbs U₃O₈ per annum by 2009 (including the Langer Heinrich post Stage II expansion).

The consideration under the Offer will comprise 1 fully paid ordinary Paladin share for every 2.04 fully paid ordinary Summit shares, implying a price of A$5.12 per Summit share based on the volume weighted average price ("VWAP") of Paladin shares on the ASX over the 5 trading days prior to the date of this announcement of $10.44 per share.

The Offer values Summit at approximately A$1,011 million and provides an attractive premium of approximately 34% to the VWAP for Summit shares on the ASX over the 10 trading days prior to the date of this announcement (see "Offer Terms" below).

The Offer is conditional only on Toronto Stock Exchange consent to quotation of Paladin shares to be issued under the Offer on that exchange, consent from Paladin's lenders (both of which are expected to be obtained promptly) and on the absence of 'prescribed occurrences'. There is no minimum acceptance condition to the Offer.

Summit is a Western Australian based exploration company with interests in uranium, copper, gold, phosphate and iron ore exploration projects in northwest Queensland. The most advanced project in Summits portfolio is the Valhalla uranium deposit situated near Mount Isa. The Valhalla deposit, together with Skal is part of the Isa Uranium Joint Venture Agreement ("IUJV"), of which Summit is manager and holder of a 50% interest. Paladin holds the other 50% interest in the IUJV.

Summit also holds interests in uranium projects in the Mount Isa and Georgina Basin areas, iron ore deposits in the Constance Range formation and various base metal and gold exploration assets in Queensland.

The proposed takeover represents a significant step forward in Paladin's growth strategy. Paladin believes that a 100% interest in the Valhalla/Skal deposits will further strengthen the post-2012 development opportunity at Mt Isa. Paladin notes the recent public comments by Summit suggesting that it will commence uranium production by early to mid 2010 (assuming the Queensland State Government reverses its policy stance so as to permit uranium mining in that State). Paladin's view, based on its own development experience and understanding of the likely development process in Queensland should uranium mining be allowed, is that a target of production commencing in or after 2012 is a more realistic expectation.

By accepting the Offer, Summit shareholders will become shareholders in a uranium producing company which enjoys excellent exposure to current strong uranium pricing and has no legacy pre-2006 sales contracts.

Summit shareholders who accept the Offer will also retain significant exploration upside, retain upside exposure to potential changes in Australian uranium mining policy, inherit a management team and board with the requisite skills and demonstrated ability to bring a uranium mine into production and obtain increased liquidity of their investment through Paladin shares.

Paladin Managing Director, John Borshoff, said the proposed acquisition allows an opportunity to further enhance Summit's assets, with a proven and experienced Board and management team. Apart from Paladin, worldwide very few companies have demonstrated the ability to deal with the unique facets involved in the development of a uranium mine. "Summit has an attractive portfolio of Australian uranium deposits that will complement Paladin's extensive asset base. The Valhalla/Skal deposits are ore bodies with sizeable resources and acceptable grades. While ultimate development of the resource depends on a change of policy in Queensland, Paladin looks forward to progressing the exploration and appraisal of Valhalla/Skal and the other deposits to ensure readiness if and when this policy change occurs." Concurrently, Paladin can develop its next uranium mine at Kayelekera in Malawi to continue progressive enhancement in the Company's shareholder value.

Paladin's strong balance sheet and upcoming operating cash flow will support the development of Summit's uranium assets and the eventual unlocking of the upside potential at the Valhalla/Skal, Andersons and other Mount Isa deposits.

Paladin's financial advisers in respect of the Offer are Azure Capital and its legal advisers are Freehills.

Offer Terms

The Offer to Summit shareholders is 1 Paladin share for every 2.04 Summit shares.

The Offer is to acquire all of each Summit shareholder's holding.

Based on the VWAP for Paladin shares on the ASX over the 5 trading days prior to the date of this announcement of A$10.44 per share, the implied value of the Offer is A$5.12 per Summit share. This represents:

- a 28.0% premium to the closing price for Summit shares of A$4.00 on the last trading day prior to the date of this announcement;
- a 30.3% premium to the VWAP for Summit shares of A$3.93 in the 5 trading days prior to the date of this announcement; and
- a 36.9% premium to the VWAP for Summit shares of $3.74 in the 15 trading days prior to the date of this announcement.

Attachment B

The Offer is subject to the following conditions* (in addition to the statutory condition relating to quotation of Paladin Shares):

- TSX consenting to the quotation of Paladin Shares issued under the Offer on that exchange;
- Paladin's lender's consent; and
- The absence of 'prescribed occurrences'.

The Offer has already received approval from the Foreign Investment Review Board.

* The above is a summary only. Full terms of the conditions are set out in the Bidder's Statement.

Indicative Timetable

Paladin will today lodge a Bidder's Statement in connection with the Offer with the Australian Securities and Investments Commission. Following is an indicative timetable for the Offer:

Expected date of lodgement of Bidder's Statement	Tuesday 27th February 2007
Expected Date of Offer	Tuesday 13th March 2007
Expected Offer close (unless extended or withdrawn)	5.00pm (Perth, Western Australia time) on Monday 16th April 2007

 The specified dates are indicative only and, subject to the Corporations Act, may be varied.

Background Information – Paladin Resources Limited

Paladin Resources Ltd is listed on both the Australian Stock Exchange and the Toronto Stock Exchange under the symbol "PDN" with subsidiary listings on the Munich Stock Exchange, Berlin-Bremen Stock Exchange, Stuttgart Stock Exchange and Frankfurt Stock Exchange under the symbol "PUR".

Paladin operates in the mineral resource sector with its focus solely on uranium exploration and development. Paladin has projects in Australia and Africa. The African projects are Langer Heinrich in Namibia and Kayelekera in Malawi. The Australian projects are Manyingee and Oobagooma in Western Australia, Valhalla and Skal (50% interest in IUJV with Summit) in Queensland and Bigirlyi (41.7% interest in joint venture with Energy Metals Limited and Southern Cross Exploration NL) in the Northern Territory.

Yellowcake production commenced in December 2006 at the Langer Heinrich Uranium Project which is located in the west of central Namibia. It lies 80km east of the major deepwater seaport at Walvis Bay and the coastal town of Swakopmund, and is 40km south of the Rio Tinto Rossing mine. Worldwide, this is the first complete new conventional uranium mining operation to come into production in a decade. First sales are expected to be made in early 2007.

On completion of the Langer Heinrich drilling programme in 2006, a new resource estimate was determined. The JORC and NI 43-101 compliant Measured and Indicated Resource at a cut off grade of 250ppm is now stated at 37.2Mt grading 0.06% for a total of 22,570t or 49.8Mlbs and Inferred Resources of 43.4 Mt grading 0.06% for a total of 25,360 t or 55.9 Mlbs U₃O₈.

The Kayelekera Deposit is located in northern Malawi in southern Africa. In 2006 Paladin contracted mineral resource specialists Hellman and Schofield Pty Ltd to complete a new resource estimate on the Kayelekera Uranium Project under the JORC and NI 43-101 Codes. This work indicates the JORC and NI 43-101 compliant Resources in the 300ppm cut off ranges:

- 15.3Mt of ore at 0.09% U₃O₈ containing 13,615t or 30Mlbs U₃O₈ (Measured and Indicated)
- 3.4Mt of ore at 0.06% U₃O₈ containing 2,040t or 4.5Mlbs U₃O₈ (Inferred)

A Development Agreement has been entered into with The Republic of Malawi, which will provide a 10-year fiscal and operational stability period for the Kayelekera project. The Bankable Feasibility Study by GRD Minproc (Pty) Ltd of South Africa, has been completed and shows that the Kayelekera project is financially and technically viable, with an 11 year project life. The Paladin Board has approved project development and preliminary works have already commenced, which will keep the project on schedule for the proposed start-up in September 2008. Kayelekera is expected to produce 3.3Mlbs per annum of U₃O₈ for the initial 7 years and 1.17Mlbs per annum U₃O₈ for the last 4 years. The application for grant of a 25 year Mining License has been submitted to the Ministry of Mines and Energy in Malawi.

In December 2006 Paladin released a NI 43-101 compliant resource report for the Valhalla and Bigryli deposits, conducted by Hellman & Schofield Pty Ltd.

The Valhalla Uranium Deposit is located 40km northwest of Mount Isa on EPM9221. The JORC and NI 43-101 compliant resource estimate in the 230ppm cut off ranges reported for the Valhalla uranium deposit is as follows and as previously announced:

- 21.3Mt of ore at 0.08% U₃O₈ containing 16,900t/37.4Mlbs U₃O₈ (Indicated). Paladin's share is 18.7Mlbs.
- 12.0Mt of ore at 0.075% U₃O₈ containing 9,000t/19.6Mlbs U₃O₈ (Inferred). Paladin's share is 9.8Mlbs.

The Skal uranium deposit, 10 kilometres east of Valhalla has also been drill tested with significant contained uranium identified in mineralisation of a similar style to Valhalla. This deposit (as reported by Summit) has a historical estimate of uranium mineralisation at a cut off grade of 230ppm of 4.2Mt at between 0.10% U₃O₈ and 0.13% U₃O₈ for 11.0Mlbs U₃O₈. Paladin's share is 50% or 5.5Mlbs.

Paladin has recently issued US$250 million convertible bonds, the net proceeds of which will be used to advance the development of the Kayelekera Project in Malawi, establish a uranium marketing subsidiary, fund opportunities as they arise to support acquisitions and corporate growth and for general corporate purposes. Paladin's uranium marketing subsidiary will, amongst other things, establish its own uranium inventory to afford the Paladin Group flexibility and stability of ongoing supply, in a dynamic uranium market.

Paladin has continued to build a high quality management team with excellent experience in uranium marketing; major project finance; development and construction; operations and corporate governance.

Yours faithfully
Paladin Resources Ltd

You are the registered holder of options over Summit Resources Limited (Summit) shares.

As you may be aware, Paladin Resources Ltd (Paladin) has made a takeover offer for all of the shares in Summit including Summit shares that are issued during the offer period on the exercise of Summit options.

Paladin's offer commences on 15 March 2007 and closes (unless extended or withdrawn) at 5pm (Perth, Western Australia time) on 16 April 2007.

We enclose, for your information, a copy of Paladin's Bidder's Statement which includes full details of Paladin's offer for Summit shares. You cannot accept Paladin's offer without first validly exercising your Summit options and being issued with Summit shares. If you validly exercise your Summit options and receive Summit shares, Paladin's share registry will post you an acceptance form so that you can accept the offer in respect of those Summit shares.

In order to accept Paladin's offer in respect of any Summit shares you are issued on the exercise of your Summit options, you must validly exercise your Summit options in sufficient time prior to the offer closing so that you can be issued your Summit shares and accept Paladin's offer before 5pm (Perth, Western Australia time) on 16 April 2007.

Yours sincerely

Your address shown in the register of members of Summit is in the United States. Paladin intends to rely on Rule 802 of the Securities Act of 1933 (US) to permit it to issue Paladin Shares in exchange for Summit Shares under its Offer to Summit shareholders with registered addresses in the United States. Accordingly, if you accept Paladin's Offer, you will not be treated as a Foreign Shareholder (as that term is defined in the Bidder's Statement) and Your Summit Shares will not be sold under the nominee process described in section 13.7 of the Bidder's Statement. You will receive Paladin Shares as consideration for Your Summit Shares.

This exchange offer or business combination is made for the securities of a foreign company. The offer is subject to disclosure requirements of a foreign country that are different from those of the United States. Financial statements included in the document, if any, have been prepared in accordance with foreign accounting standards that may not be comparable to the financial statements of United States companies.

It may be difficult for you to enforce your rights and any claim you may have arising under the federal securities laws, since the issuer is located in a foreign country, and some or all of its officers and directors may be residents of a foreign country. You may not be able to sue a foreign company or its officers or directors in a foreign court for violations of the U.S. securities laws. It may be difficult to compel a foreign company and its affiliates to subject themselves to a U.S. court's judgment.

You should be aware that the issuer may purchase securities otherwise than under the exchange offer, such as in open market or privately negotiated purchases.
